

Postmaster Myers Says Christmas Buying Spree On

Too early for Christmas shopping? "Don't you believe it!" says Postmaster Howard S. Myers. "There are more friends, relatives, and sweethearts in our armed forces overseas than at any time since World War II. Their precious gifts and cheery Christmas greetings should be mailed before November 15, and for those to be sent to remote areas, now is the time to start. "Nothing makes me so sad," the postmaster declared, "as to forward overseas a Christmas card or package that may not be delivered before December 25."

It's best, of course, to send both parcel post and Christmas cards by air mail. (Overseas air parcels are limited to two pounds.) Be sure the address is easy to read, and includes the recipient's full name, serial number, branch of service, organization, and correct A. P. O.

Include sender's name and address inside all packages. All parcels should be securely wrapped and tied with strong cord. Use heavy corrugated cartons for fragile collection during their long journey.

Some foods may be sent, no perishable items. Valuable overseas gifts should be registered or insured.

Delivery of the Christmas mail overseas is a complex operation. In some areas, the postal services of our Army Air Force or Navy will take up where the U. S. Post Office leaves off. It will help greatly if everyone follows the suggestions above.

Your next step, Postmaster Myers concluded, "is to get ready for Christmas in the U. S. A. Better start checking your Christmas card list right now, for after December 1, the post office will be hard pressed to handle the tremendous volume of Christmas mail!"

The announcement was made by President Colgate W. Dyrden. President Dyrden will present certificates to 25 men in the College of Arts and Sciences, six men in the School of Engineering, and one woman in the School of Education.

TAA Official Urges Pedestrians To Use Caution on Highways

Planning a walk tonight? The color of your clothing may save your life. Wearing or carrying something white after dark will help lower pedestrian accident statistics. John B. Dey, vice-president of the Tidewater Automobile Association, said today.

"Wear White After Dark" is the theme of this month's AAA safety education kit being sent to elementary school teachers in connection with the club's traffic safety program. The poster which will be displayed in all schools this month as a part of the AAA's "Wear White After Dark" campaign was drawn by Virginia Dave Garner, Rayburn Drive elementary school, San Antonio, Tex., and a winner in the eighth National School Safety Poster Contest.

"According to national statistics, four out of five pedestrian fatalities occur after dark," Mr. Dey said. "The highest number of accidents are recorded during the winter when there are more hours of darkness. Most pedestrians do not realize how difficult it is for the driver, to distinguish objects on the highway until he is almost upon them. While approaching automobiles, bright to the person walking toward them, they are actually effective only for several hundred feet. The average automobile, going at the low speed of 30 miles an hour, covers this distance before the driver has time to avoid hitting a pedestrian. Pedestrians wearing white or light clothing are visible sooner to the oncoming driver."

Mr. Dey emphasized the impor-

This year, National Education Week will be held all over America from November 9 to 15. All churches, civic groups, and the schools have been asked to cooperate. Pastors have been asked to preach sermons on National Education Week, with the child in mind. Civic groups are asked to attend school activities planned for parents, that they may become acquainted with children's school life.

In celebration of National Education Week, Kempville High School has many special activities planned for the parents and students. Dramatics I class will give a radio show, over the public address system, on "My School" by Betty Gilling. In the east are Jesse Gibbons, Ira Mercer, Ruth Meisel, Caleb Phelps, Irl Lee Albertson, Pat Hayes, Dot Parer, Bud Jackson, Jean Ray Bryant, and Margie Borgert.

Wednesday morning, in the school auditorium, 14 matinee class II will present an adaptation of "a play, 'School for Freedom' by Margie W. Robertson and Margaret T. Thomas. It has been renamed 'Cavaliers' and will be made up of Dalton Wood, Bello Diphaye, Bobby Davis, Carlton Shrieves, and Bill Joins. It is in combination with a panel discussion of present day needs of education. The panel was taken from the speech class and is composed of Carlton Shrieves, Buddy Blaws, Frank Bednarick, Marie Conway, Nancy French, and Marie Simpson.

E. W. Sprinell, dramatics and speech coach at Kempville, will direct the panel discussion, the skit, and the radio play.

The monthly meeting of PTA is scheduled from Nov. 9 to 12, that more parents will be able to attend open house at Kempville school.

The elementary school will have exhibits of each child's work in each room. There will be an open discussion on the new report cards or anything the parents do not understand.

While this is going on the parents of the high school students will go through an abbreviated of their child's daily schedule. A photographer will make a motion picture of the difficulties they have during "back to school night."

Turkey Bowl Will Pit Ancient Rivals

The third annual Turkey Bowl game, featuring the two top rivals of Princess Anne County, Kempville High School's Blue Devils and Oceana, High School's Cavaliers, will clash on Kempville gridiron Friday, November 14, at 8:00 p. m.

Besides the testing of footballs and clashing of heads, there will be a wide array of features—foats, bands, guests and excited fans.

Sharing the limelight will be the Turkey Bowl Queen and her court, selected by the players of the Kempville High School football team.

None of this would have been possible without the able help and leadership of the Kempville Ruritan Club, sponsors of the game.

CITY AND COUNTY FOLLOW NATION; VOTE EISENHOWER

Voters of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County followed the trend of the State and the Nation in giving the nod to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his successful bid for the Presidency of the United States in Tuesday's national election.

The victory in the county and city marked the first departure from the Democratic side of the national political picture since the campaign of Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith in 1928. In this election, the Republican nominee, Hoover, carried the county.

Early returns on Tuesday gave Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, a substantial lead in Princess Anne County, but Eisenhower gradually overtook him, and final unofficial figures gave the nod to the Republican candidate, 3,175 to 3,053.

The City of Virginia Beach gave Eisenhower a commanding lead which helped to offset Stevenson's margin in the county precincts. The two city precincts gave Eisenhower a total vote of 1,310 to Stevenson's 881.

Voting in the city was believed to have set a record with 2,313 ballots accounted for in the official report. In June, 1951, the city was credited with casting approximately 2,100 votes.

Blalock Charges OPS Forcing Beef Price Up

Why has market price for live beef cattle dropped considerably and retail price remained high? H. O. Blalock, president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation, charged that OPS price controls are forcing consumers to pay more for meat than they would in a market governed solely by supply and demand.

Blalock, who has been in the United States have dropped about 13.8 per cent on beef cattle, from August 1951 to August 1952. The retail prices paid by consumers show that in the same period the rib roast has climbed 2.5 per cent, round steak 2.4 per cent, chuck roast down 2.8 per cent, hamburger down 3.8 per cent. The price to farmers, August-September 1952, dropped more than 14 per cent.

Why have some retail prices been going up and others dropping slightly while the live prices have dropped drastically?

Highway Department Works to Keep Travelers on Right Route

The State Highway Department has a plan to keep people from getting lost when route numbers are changed.

Under a new policy just announced, whenever a road is transferred from the primary to the secondary system, both the old and new numbers will be used as a service to motorists.

The old number will stay up for a year to give ample time for maps to be changed and for the local road user to become familiar with the new number. The new secondary number will be at the top and the old primary number at the bottom. Primary numbers begin with Route 1 and go to Route 523. Secondary numbers begin with 600 in each county.

Highway officials explained that transfers from the primary to the secondary system are usually made effective at the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1 in order to include the road in budgets prepared for the ensuing year.

State highway maps and those prepared by map and oil companies, are printed early in the year to show changes in the past year and to be available by early spring.

Primary and secondary roads are maintained by the State Highway Department. Before a road is transferred from primary to secondary, any allocation of primary funds is expended for further improvements, officials said. Under State law, the Highway Commission is authorized to transfer from the primary to the secondary system roads that are no longer of primary significance.

THREE TILTS SPECTACLES

The "hot fever" has gripped Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County with three bowl football games scheduled to be played during the next 10 days.

First of the games will be the annual Ocean Bowl to be played tomorrow night at the Oceana Stadium. The contest will pit the Oceana Cavaliers against the strong Churchland Troopers. The game time is 8 p. m.

The second bowl game, known as the "Beach Bowl" will be played next Thursday night at the Oceana Stadium. The game is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Rotary Club and will find the Virginia Beach Seashore and Norfolk Academy meeting. The Beach Bowl opponents met earlier in the season and the contest resulted in a scoreless draw. Both teams have improved since their initial meeting and the game looks as a natural.

The Seashore experienced defeat in their first five bowl games. Last week they defeated Creeds, 13 to 12, after having lost to the same club, 33 to 6, early in the season.

Friday, November 14, Kempville's Blue Devils tangle with Oceana in the annual Turkey Bowl at Kempville. This is an annual meeting of the two clubs and prognosticators hesitate to install either team as the favorite. All bowl games are night affairs and are scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Many Local Artists Exhibit at Local Show

Fifty local artists took part in the art exhibit at Tucker Hall, Chesapeake Church Sunday and Monday.

The exhibit started mainly to help artists market their production and to form a business of artists to help each other, to find pupils for well-instructed teachers, and to arouse interest in the community so that the dream of building a small art museum combined with a public library could take shape. When interest was shown, artists and their pretenses had the committee feel sure the first step of their dream was accomplished. No profits were made by any organization.

The committee in charge was Mrs. Charles Hand, Mrs. Charles Wicks, Mrs. Edith Grayson, Mrs. Constance Keady, Mrs. Ada Wilson and Mrs. Henry Boykin.

"The Quiet Man" Stars Land of Erin

Ireland is the star of this bewitching motion picture—different in mood, story, and technique from anything to come from Hollywood in many a year.

As star of the piece Ireland is at her best—a bewitching elusive, contrary colleen to set any man to fighting or drinking, and any woman to wiping her eyes. Her beauty is of the green hills and sun on roses; its humor is earthy and brave, and its moods shift from tender love to contrariness.

Ambed over to Bob's Restaurant Tuesday for lunch and noticed a new sign "Left Ham Sandwich, 40¢... Right Ham Sandwich, 30¢."

"Why the sign, Bob?" I asked. "Don't tell me you believe hogs scratch more with their right hand than with their left—so the left ham is more tender!"

"No," he says. "I don't take any stock in it. But, some people have ordered those 'left' sandwiches. When I explain to them that there's nothing to that fable, that the sign is just a business-getter, and I've only one price, they enjoy a regular, old fashioned, plain ham sandwich all the more!"

From where I sit, stories like "right" hams being tougher than "left" ones are with us because some people get ideas into their head and hang onto them for dear life. It's like those who think an adult like myself hasn't the right to a glass of beer with my supper. I say let's keep our opinions free from being "sandwiched-in" by misinformation.

John Wayne is a man of mystery when he arrives in Monterey, County Calway, none knowing he is an American prizefighter seeking to forget that he has killed a man by accident in the ring. He rouses the ire of Victorick, square head Will Deanner, when he buys the cottage "White o' Mornin," where his mother was born, and fans it to fury when he falls in love with red-haired Maureen O'Hara, sister of the square.

Barry Fitzgerald, as Michael Flynn, village bookmaker, marriage broker, and general character, arranges a match, with Red Will setting a dowry for his sister, and renewing on his payment. Wayne, unwilling to use his skill as a fighter, is finally driven to it and the picture ends with an epic struggle raging across miles of the countryside, with stops in the local pub, and VDA Says Corn Bushel 70 Lbs.

Directed by Attorney General J. L. Almond, the Virginia Department of Agriculture has warned grain dealers that a bushel of corn is a bushel of corn, it is matter what you call it.

In a ruling issued to the department, the agency stated that a bushel of corn is 70 pounds—not more, not less—and that is what grain dealers must pay farmers for.

"It is my opinion," the attorney general said, "that grain dealers may not circumvent this law by substituting some other unit for the standard bushel as prescribed by the legislature."

That is what some dealers have been trying to do, according to R. D. Thompson, supervisor of weights and measures for the department's division of markets. Thompson's job is to see that when goods are sold by weight or measure, the weight or measure used is correct.

More and more Virginia farmers, he said, are having sold corn on 100-pound bags from the field, which means that the corn has a lot of natural moisture in it.

The dealer has to dry his corn before he can sell it in trade channels, and to protect himself from moisture loss he takes a moisture discount.

A reasonable discount for moisture is justified, Thompson said,

Ocean Distributive Education Club To Enter Parade Float

The Ocean Distributive Education Club has announced plans to enter a float in the fourth annual Ocean Front parade. The theme of the float will be Thanksgiving, using Pilgrims and Indians to suggest the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth Rock.

This project follows along with the D. E. plan of teaching the students to arrange pleasing window displays. The arrangement of the material on the float helps the students to see how articles can be arranged to please and attract the attention of the public.

but it must be taken in accordance with the law.

Some dealers, he said, will offer what looks like a good price for a bushel of corn and then weigh out 50 or 60 pounds for a bushel.

There has been talk, he said, of dealers buying "units" of corn instead of bushels, with a "unit" being anywhere from 50 to 70 pounds.

Both these practices, Thompson said, are illegal and will not be permitted. Dealing on the basis of standard, legal weight is necessary, he said, to insure the trading.

To comply with the law, he said, dealers must trade on the basis of 70 pounds of corn to the bushel, no matter what they call it, and take their discounts off the price.

Blacklock Charges

apportioned listed two main reasons: Price ceilings do not actually compel retailers to sell at the ceiling; however, many retailers are reluctant to sell for less than ceiling, fearing the removal of any sales might be used by OPA for a basis of later action to reduce retail margins.

OPA regulations increase the retailer's cost of doing business and interfere with his ability to do an efficient business. The retailer must cut most according to OPA regulations, rather than the way his trade would prefer to have it cut. By helping to hold retail prices up when farm prices have dropped, ceilings are working against farmers' interest and interfere with conversion of feed into meat.

If the ceiling were removed, and prices allowed to drop in line with that drop in live cattle, people would be encouraged to eat more meat. This would strengthen prices of live animals, and farmers would be encouraged to produce more meat.

Reiterating its demand for removal of price and wage controls, the VSP spokesman said, "Price controls on livestock and meat are serving no useful purpose except temporary political expediency."

Prices received by farmers at local Virginia markets show a decline of around 10 per cent.

Designer at Exhibit In Richmond

Robert Matter, outstanding contemporary designer, will attend the opening tomorrow of an exhibition he has created for display at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts to be on view through November 30.

Entitled "Matter at Work," the showing has thirty panels with explanatory comments. A travel version, also designed by the artist, will tour Virginia at the conclusion of the Richmond exhibition, visiting libraries, schools, colleges, clubs and other organizations. Following the statewide tour the display will be circulated nationally under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts.

The Virginia Art Alliance, holding its fall meeting in Richmond Saturday afternoon, November 8, will have Matter as a member of a symposium on "Teaching Design." Others are Frederick D. Nichols, assistant professor of architecture at the University of Virginia; John T. Hilton, head of the commercial art department at Richmond Professional Institute; Lawrence Kocher, architect and faculty member of William and Mary College.

CLASS PROPHECY...

REUNION, CLASS OF 1942

As the pale winter sun rested among the tree tops, the snow whirled lazily outside and continued in ever-revolving circles. I stamped the snow from my feet, threw my coat toward any chair that was unlucky enough to be in its way and settled into an overstuffed chair by the glowing fire to read the afternoon paper. I looked at the date, December 20, 1952. My, what headlines! "Walter Lloyd Takes Over Editing of 'New York Times'!" Well, well, if that wasn't Ducky, who was such a whiz with "The Lighthouse!"

What's this? Piano Concert, Metropolitan Opera House by Toscanini Benier, World Fame. But I'm not surprised at that, though, for all of us remember how Jack could "pound the ivories."

Look over here—Broadway play runs for fifth month. Miss

Connie Crockett, Miss Peggy Rumble, and Miss Martha Jones still dazzle New York theatergoers with a superb performance.

Well, well, what do you know? Here's Aubrey Caffee's picture. He has just been bought by a Big League Team—Some Stuff!

Leslie Dyer and Billy Dekker are famed for their lieutenant services in the Air Corps.

Mae Davis and Bobbie Webb have been made generals in the U. S. Army. Hey, what's this?

"Tommy" Denny, home for the Christmas Holidays from Oceana"—well, well, you mean he's still there?

O. T. Whitehurst, distinguished costume designer for the Metropolitan Opera Company, is entertaining guests tomorrow night, while home for the holidays.

Carol Dail has been awarded a cup for being the model wife, she even brings Hubbie his slippers

Frances Land will rule as Queen of May at the second Annual May Day Festival on May 18, 1937, at 1:30 p. m. Her maid-of-honor will be Kathryn Bane. The ladies of the court are as follows: Dorothy Fisher, Louise Shaffer, Blanche Palford, June Valmer, Mary Anne Riky, Rose Lynn Dail, Mary Ellen Cole, Esther Belanga, Alice Forbes, Betty Frost Woodhouse, Helen Rogers, Inez Flannagan, Martha Chisholm and Creta Widgen.

and paper after dinner, what a gall (one in a million).

Miss Louise Kyle, the world-famous music teacher, will conduct a series of lectures beginning Monday night.

I wonder what's on at the movies. Hey, get a load of this—Ruth Day and Hardy Cole receive "Oscar" for their outstanding acting in "The Virginia Beach Story," by Carlotta Norfleet, famed playwright.

Honorable Edwin Lindsay and family are spending the winter at Virginia Beach. The President of our Senior Class is now in Congress.

Hey, where's the rest of my paper? Oh, there it is on the floor—Ore, what headlines! "Elias Niemann, well known New York Model, to Wed Millionaire Playboy." She always did have big ideas. Seems to me she kept up with them.

Avion Anderson, after spending a time in the South Seas, will continue the job as commercial artist for several leading stores here.

Harfield Timberlake, who has climbed on top as a civil engineer, has announced plans for a bridge over the Atlantic. Not bad, Harfield.

Here's a little item on the sports page, "Davis Wadsworth is a coach for one of the best girls' schools in the country."

Evelyn Smith isn't doing so bad. She is John D. Rockefeller's private secretary.

Here's another item, "Famed Portrait Painter makes tour of art galleries and museums in Europe." That's Margaret Love Smith.

And what's this? Betty Webb Woodhouse has received first prize for her bouncing baby boy in the "Baby Contest of 1937."

Bootsie Clark Land isn't doing so bad. Her 18 pounder won the prize last year.

Here's the last page. I will fold my paper and go to bed.

'New' White House Has Many Differences

By Alice Brewer White

In visiting the White House over the past weekend in Washington, it was apparent that the most noticeable change in the state palaces — at those rooms on the first floor are those called — was the brightening up, the lightening of the elegant state dining room. I am afraid I have to go along with the folk who do not like this new effect.

When Theodore Roosevelt enlarged this spacious room, he had it darkly paneled in English oak. In the 1961 remodeling, the walls were painted a soft blue-green to tone in with the newly installed Georgian fireplace of light antique Vermont marble. Teddy's carved brown heads were nowhere to be found!

When Mrs. Truman graciously received 500 of the one thousand or more Beta Sigma Phi meeting in Washington for their middle eastern convention, she had indicated that a decent couple of copper-toned fall flowers, given to her earlier in the week, be saved for the Beta Sigma Phi girls to see.

She wore a simply styled mauve shawl frock and with her new blonde hair cut and her firm but friendly Missouri handshake quite won the hearts of all the girls fortunate enough to have been numbered in the "hickies three hundred." (The first reservations sent in for the convention were so honored.)

(Grace Goodridge first had the bright idea for anonymous donors to give their best antiques to the mansion and it seems to be bearing fruit. In the private dining room, a fine Chippendale table has been added which is worth $8,000 to $10,000. I understand there are handsome chairs to match. Two very fine settees designed by Robert Adam and made by Chippendale, both of them museum pieces, were used in decorations of a simpler looking East Room.

Here, the three gorgeous crystal chandeliers had again been changed to suit the still the most awesome looking affairs imaginable.

The Green Room wall silk was changed again, but the wall coverings of both the Blue Room and the Red Room, where Mrs. Truman received her guests, had so faded and frayed that brand-new silk wall-covering was in evidence.

The White House architect holds that the new ground floor was "quite the show place of the house." Five of its rooms were paneled in hard oak pine from the original White House, processed by Baltimore craftsmen, leaving the old nail holes. More of the pine was carved for the mantels in these rooms, and old stone, also from the original White House, was used for the fireplaces. The ground floor has been made more beautiful by Vermont marble walls and floors.

The builders say the new mansion is solid enough in construction to stand for a couple of centuries at least. It's quite a thrill, as you walk through it, to visit it, to realize that this great building, the White House, which has been strengthened without and restored within, this lovely old mansion, belongs to each and every one of us here in America.

Our White House! I might add, with not the sign of an iron curtain anywhere about.

Two Wildlife Films Available

The Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries has added to its film loan library two new wildlife films in sound and color. J. J. Shomon, chief of the Commission's education division, reports.

"Life Along the Waterways," an 11-minute film, traces the growth of a brook into a river, emphasizing the dependence of flowers, fish, birds and animals on the stream for life.

"Wildlife and the Human Touch," a 22 minute film, reveals the importance of wildlife management on the nation's 163 national forests. The problems and benefits of management are depicted in stories of the forest. Film distribution is restricted to clubs, schools, and public groups within Virginia. Bookings dates, should be made well in advance with the Commission offices in Richmond.

PINNED UNDER FIRE ENGINE... John Grubbs, 71, lay trapped under a fire boat-and-bulldozer crash after crash and immediately collapsed in Richmond, N.Y. He was thrown from car. He was forced to remain in this position until rescuers could extricate him.

278th Combat Regiment Trains At Little Creek

The Army's 278th Regimental combat team from Fort Devens, Mass., comprising 2,500 enlisted personnel and 200 officers, has arrived at Little Creek, Norfolk, amphibious base for two weeks of amphibious warfare training. 700 supporting troops arrived earlier.

The combat team was transported from Boston to the Norfolk naval base on board ship of the Atlantic Amphibious Force. Docking were the attack transports USS LST and USS LST, the attack cargo ship USS Achernar, and the landing ship tank USS LST and USS LST 912. The training, dubbed Operation Seawave, is under the overall supervision of Vice Adm. P. G. Fahrius, USN, Commander Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

The training, which began November 3 with seven days of ashore indoctrination, will be directed by Rear Adm. Augustus J. Wellings, USN, commander amphibious training command, Atlantic. This period includes classroom lectures and familiarization with the land phase of amphibious warfare techniques. "The ashore phase of training will be climaxed November 14 with an assault landing on the beach at Camp Pendleton, just south of Virginia Beach.

Christian Life Conference at Lynchburg

Christ's Life Conference to be held Tuesday, November 4, at Lynchburg College with the theme "Two Worlds in One or One World in Two."

Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Nash of the University of North Carolina were the speakers, appearing at two morning convocations one of which was the Clifford L. Snider lecture on the Christian Life. They were also in charge of two evening convocations which were followed by informal coffee hours in faculty homes.

Mrs. Nash, who has had experience in marriage counseling, spoke to several classes and interested groups. Other features of the conference, which ends today, was a concert by the Lynchburg College Touring Choir, a reception, morning watch services conducted by Lynchburg ministers, and a banquet in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Nash.

The 11th fleet will be landed from Amphibious Force ships on the assault against an "enemy-held" beach. Air and surface units of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet will provide air and surface support.

Sixty Marines from Camp Lejeune, N. C., will serve as a gunfire coordination team.

Winter Season Being Planned by Lesley Savage

A winter season for Theatre-Go-Round. This is a definite possibility as plans are being worked out for presentation of six Broadway plays, each running two weeks, at Theatre-Go-Round's new home in the former Shrine Club, 67th and Atlantic. This is according to Lesley Savage, Theatre-Go-Round's organizer and producer.

For the three previous seasons at Virginia Beach, the season have been presented Monday through Saturdays. This will be changed for the winter and summer seasons of 1953, Miss Savage announced. The curtain will be the same time, 8:30, but plays will be on Tuesday through Sunday, with no Monday performance.

Selection of plays is in progress and complete list are expected to be announced soon.

Assisting Miss Savage in preparation for the winter season is Earl Chasen, business manager and publicity director. Mr. Chasen is well known to listeners in Tidewater radio and is continuing some broadcasting on WSAW, Portsmouth. This will be his third season with Theatre-Go-Round.

Gene Stuart, formerly of radio station WCNC, Elizabeth City, N. C., will be assistant to Miss Savage and Mr. Chasen. He will be seen in several winter productions. Popular with teen-agers as a disc jockey, Gene hopes to feature an hour disc show each week from the Fourth Act Club with interviews of club and theatre patrons and rare collectors' records from his files.

A limited number of season tickets are available for the winter season. Those wishing to obtain them should call 2730. The price of the season ticket is $10 for the six plays.

According to Mrs. P. A. Van Patten, vice-president, Norfolk Princess Anne County Tuberculosis Association in cooperation with the local health department is providing free chest x-rays for high school students, 15 years of age and over, during the first two weeks in December. A mobile unit equipped with x-ray machinery will cover the counties as follows:

The war against tuberculosis is bringing results. In 40 years, the disease has moved from first 11:45 p. m. place to eighth place as cause of death. Most people need only a brief check-up if they take Nov. 11 - Badminton, 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. proper care of themselves, and 10:30 p. m. many who do get it can be saved Nov. 10 - Girl Scouts, Jr., 3:30 by early discovery and treatment to 4:30 p. m.

Yet tuberculosis in our country 9:30 p. m. still kills more people than any other disease. It is still a serious threat for those who develop it 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

GARDEN GAB

The following article was written by a member of the Blue Rock Point Garden Club, and we know you will enjoy it as much as we did. We feel we can't urge you too strongly to plant the dailies - one of the easiest growing and most satisfactory flowers for this area.

Since a well-known authority on gardening recently recommended hybrid dailies as hardy and fast-maturing plants for filling in space with beauty, we took it upon ourselves to bone up on the subject and pass it on to you. It being our humble opinion that few can afford the time or money necessary in the cultivation of fragile and sensitive plants.

The choice of colors or color combinations is as varied as the sizes and shapes of the flowers, ranging from the common shades of yellow, to pink, rose, maroon, brown, purple, or multicolor. The height of the plant is equally flexible, ranging from dwarf size to five feet.

One of the most lovable traits of the dailies is the fact that it adapts itself to the most ordinary kind of soil, and will bloom in sun or shade with almost consistent impartiality!

In planting, the most effective method is to spade the soil to a depth of about two feet, mix in a layer of compost or well rotted manure, (commercial dehydrated manure may be substituted if mixed with water and allowed to expand prior to application), and add a few handfuls of plant food, covering with soil until nearly level. Spread roots carefully, pack with topsoil not over one inch deep, and the plant is equally firm from two to four feet apart. Do not suppose for one minute that you will not have dailies spread all over the place by the following season. Incidentally, the best time to tackle this project is immediately after plants have bloomed, which occurs from May through August, depending upon the type or variety chosen. If plants are placed a sufficient distance apart, dividing and replanting can be postponed for five years, which is no mean factor to take into consideration!

Although one flower lasts but a single day, each flower stem possesses a multitude of buds, so that blooms are continuous for several weeks.

These sturdy, disease - resistant beauties thrive with a minimum amount of moisture, weeding, or fertilizing; however, like anything else that can really take it, they respond graciously to a little kindness.

Teifer-Brothers Nuptials Celebrated

The marriage of Miss Janet Teifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Francis Teifer of Lynnhaven, to Lt. Donald G. Teifer, USCG, son of Mrs. Stanley E. Teifer of Trenton, Mich., and the late Mr. Teifer, took place Saturday, September 27, at 10 o'clock a. m. in Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. McIntyre, assistant pastor. The church was decorated with palms, white orchids and lighted candles. Harvey Stevens, church organist, played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of bridal satin and Chantilly lace; her veil of illusion fell from a pearl tiara. She carried a mother - of - pearl prayerbook, showered with Stephanotis.

Miss Shirley Anten, sister of the bride, the maid of honor, wore a gown of emerald green tulle and net. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Dennis Tomlin, Miss Marie Stewart of Norfolk and Miss Leslie Holmes of Portsmouth. They wore gowns of satin and net, in peacock blue, apricot and green, and carried nosegays of carnations and roses.

French rayonette is being used more than ever in the Paris Collections and this certainly augurs a tremendous interest in the use of French rayonette in this country in the near future. Paris is using rayonette even more than the fine designers in this country. It appears to be the latest of couturier designers whose recent showings featured rayonette of all types.

The first man-made fiber, rayonette, was discovered in 1888. Incidentally, France was the birthplace of the discovery of "artificial silk" too. A French one discovered rayonette and it is a happy coincidence to realize that rayonette, the earliest wonder fabric, had its beginning in the old-world land of tradition and glamour—France! Comte Hilaire de Chardonnet, who discovered the first rayonette, was the first to create artificial silk. The first test for this great experimentation in the creation of artificial fibers took place in the laboratory the comte had installed in his property of Jussy and it was there, in 1888, that he obtained the first artificial silk. The first spinning machine built at Chalon sur Saône functioned in Paris in 1889 where, for the first time, artificial silk based on nitro-cellulose was being spun upon the bobbin.

The first rayonette was brilliant and brilliant colors which they still keep. In 1892, the only factory in Belgium employed one hundred people. In 1924, when Comte de Chardonnet died, rayonette and its synthetic fibers were the most important factors in the development of the fashion world throughout the world.

Some of the important fashion fabrics of French rayonette prominently mentioned in the couture showings are tulle, lace, velvet, jersey, mouseline jersey, crepe and lace. These are the fabrics which look like silk and which are used in the most elegant and expensive of the rayonette fabrics.

Queen Elizabeth's coronation robe will be a deep purple velvet worth $110 a yard and is now being hand-loomed in England! Christian Dior has shown no more than three or four robes in his latest collection that there is no doubt but that length will become the popular one of the year. Some of the sharpest new three-quarter lengths are boxy in cut, looking but unlike short overcoats. Much to do about the length of the skirt in three-quarter length.

Women have been wearing stoles for some time now but it is a popular fashion, with much appeal, that women refuse to pass up. With the slim, neat silhouette the stole is more popular than ever. (Ideal for Christmas gifting.)

Stoles are bigger and bulkier than ever before. They assume

Double Chin:
An exercise that will help to prevent it from forming or will banish it is to sit straight, close the eyes and drop the head forward right down onto the chest. Get limp all over. Relax the back of the neck. Then rub the chin back and forth against the chest six times; bring it up on each side, first to the left, then to the right, and rub it back and forth six times. Then relax the head and rest a few moments. Do this exercise twice at a sitting.

The whole exercise should be done as part of the morning routine and just before retiring.

For quicker results in reducing the double chin, this exercise can be done several times during the day. It is also a help for relaxing tensions during the day, or whenever the back of the neck feels tense and tight. Be regular and patient. You'll win. But remember, it took years for that chin to get down! (There's no "How to take Pina off the Upper Arms.")

Especially for Homemakers
Dishwashing, scrubbing and washing clothes can make homemakers' hands terribly rough and red. Fingernails can present a problem, too, as they are apt to become soft and break off.

The greatest solution is to keep a bottle of good hand lotion at every place in the house where you dip your hands in water—in bathroom and in kitchen shelf—as well as on your dressing table. It takes only a few seconds to slather on the lotion.

Put it on after you have had your hands in water, and if they are really dry, put it on before, too.

Keep your nails covered with several protective coats of supple polish at all times. If you can't keep colored nail polish on when you do heavy housework, then use colorless.

Post Chaplain Plans Family Church Crusade This Month

Capt. James I. Hart, post chaplain, has announced formation of plans for a family church crusade to start in November, each Sunday, families will be urged to attend their respective services as a unit. The idea for increased family devotion is that the family that prays together stays together.

Chaplain Hart will attend the Virginia Baptists convention at Richmond the second week in November and display pictorial evidence of work done by chaplains here and in Korea. Pictures of family devotion taken in the post chapel will be incorporated.

A campaign on behalf of the poor will be conducted during the month. Thanksgiving baskets of food and canned goods will be collected and distributed during the drive to needy families of Princess Anne County.

Good Scores Made By Bowlers, Netmen

The bowling and basketball leagues have moved through the first round of play and while the results are not conclusive, a few names have been recorded and the units do have something to back about.

In basketball the 310th flight is leading in dominating the 49th, 41 to 7; the 49th followed the 60th, 41 to 38. Other results found the 10th taking the measure of the 49th, 37 to 16, the 49th the 20th, 28 to 12, and the Navy the 49th, 39 to 35.

The post team will bring into action this coming week also. They will clash with the Marines at Norfolk, Wednesday, November 6, and over the home season the following evening against the Fleet Air Service from Oceana.

The bowling league is off to a fast start. All 16 teams have been to the post — five of them, the 47th, 47th, 49th, C Co., and Navy, still sport unblemished records.

High game of the young season belongs to Miller of the 46th who picked off 359 pins in ten frames. Collected of the 20th was 337, scores and leads in averages with 179. Juniors of the 46th and Division of Det 111 follow in averages with 173 and 176 respectively.

Second Army Saves Taxpayers

Taxpayers were saved over $100,000 during the fiscal year of 1952, by aggressive economy campaigns conducted by the post, wings and stations in the Seventh Second Army area, Fort Meade, Md.

Playing a large part in this program is the property disposal officer at each installation. The office channels by commercial sale thousands of items of surplus from which the Army can realize a return.

At regular intervals advance sales are held for civilian industries in the Army area on a bid basis. Scrap metal and scores of other waste materials are sold.

At big sales in the Efficiency Award Program, civilian employees of the Second Army have received $1,000 for suggestions copied by Efficiency Award Committees. Application of the ideas saved over $70,000 in seven months.

Awards for civilian employees are based on savings resulting from the use of the idea for one year. The sum received by the suggester is based on 5 per cent of the savings secured during the first year the idea or invention is applied.

The efficiency program is emphasized in clerical and administrative offices, as elsewhere. Manpower Conservation Surveys

The Second Army commander said that as a result of these surveys an annual saving of over half a million dollars alone will be effected at Second Army Headquarters.

American Legion Observance of Armistice Week Nation-wide

November 5-15 will be observed by the American Legion in this state as "American Legion Week." It has been announced by Virginia Department Commander William F. Kellman of Virginia Beach.

Purpose of the observance, according to Commander Kellman, will be to inform the general public of the program, activities, and aims of the Legion in Virginia.

A number of posts have now planned elaborate observances of the week. Many posts are co-operating with local newspapers to devote special pages to the observance. A number have made arrangements with local radio stations to carry special programs during the week. Open house post meetings, to which the public will be invited, have been planned in many instances.

While plans for the observance are going forward, Gov. John B. Battle, Virginia's No. 1 Legionnaire, who is a member of the

Million Veterans Receive Training Under GI Bill

On the basis of estimated figures by the Veterans Administration on GI training, more than a million veterans are taking this type of training this fall.

One-third of the number, VA said, are attending colleges and universities; two-thirds are in other types of training below the college level. Included in the two-thirds are veterans attending trade schools and business schools and those taking on-the-job and on-the-farm training.

The number of World War II veterans in GI training has fallen off steadily and the number of World War I men now in training is estimated at one-half of the number one year ago. Their decline for commencing GI Bill training generally fell in the middle of 1951.

Nearly 300,000 of the present number of GI trainees, or 20 per cent of the total, are young veterans who have served since the beginning of the Korean conflict. Their training is under the so-called Korean GI Bill, applying to veterans who have served in the armed forces anywhere in the world since June 27, 1950.

It can be reasonably expected, VA said, that the number of World War II veterans in training will show a continued decrease, while Korean veterans will enroll in training programs in increasing numbers as they are discharged from military service.

Service Clubs Being Kept Busy at Port

Extraordinary activity at Port Story is booming. Miss Eleanor Wall, the new Post director of recreation, has announced plans for events for both service clubs, and promises that once the campaign is in full swing there will be no lull.

Several successful dances have been held October 23, two affairs filled both service clubs. Samuel Thorne and his orchestra, and an elaborate floorshow, entertained at the first; the Post Combo provided music at the second.

October 30, a Halloween show and dance will take place in the main service club. Don Wornstaff and his orchestra will serenade and additional entertainment will be furnished by a versatile floorshow, including roller skating, dancing and ventriloquists.

It is significant that the Virginia American Legion, whose members fought — and many of their comrades died — to preserve the independence and rights of free men, should set aside the week of Armistice Day as "American Legion Week."

During the week, Legion posts throughout this great Commonwealth will bring to the public's attention the aims and activities of the posts designed to promote a more perfect citizenship on the part of us all.

"I invite the cooperation of all our citizens in this commendable effort."

C&P Authorizes Spending of $4,000,000 For Improvements

Expenditures of $4,000,000 for improvement and expansion of telephone facilities to meet growing communications needs in the area served by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia were authorized by the board of directors of the company.

The largest single appropriation was $3,201,000 for installation of a toll dial switching system in Richmond and associated equipment in outlying offices. Richmond has been established as one of the control switching points under the nationwide plan for handling toll traffic on a dial basis. Chesapeake and Potomac said the new system will result in improvement in toll service generally, principally in speed and accuracy.

An expenditure of $229,000 was authorized for the provision of outside plant facilities in connection with establishment of a new dial center at Oronoto. The project involves installation of 181 poles, 33.4 miles of aerial cable, 14.2 miles of underground cable and 59 single miles of wire.

In the Fairfax-Virginia suburban areas adjacent to Washington, an expenditure of $273,000 was approved to care for rapidly growing telephone needs.

Construction of a toll cable from Warrenton to The Plains and installation of two carrier systems from Warrenton to Washington were authorized at a cost of $170,500. This will provide additional facilities on the Warrenton - The Plains - Leesburg-Washington toll route.

An expenditure of $60,000 was allocated for expansion of exchange cable facilities in the east section of the main central office in Norfolk to serve new housing developments.

Chesapeake and Potomac directors also approved expenditures of $301,500 for the provision of additional facilities at various locations in Virginia.

"Operation E. S. P." the uproarious story of what happens when two gamblers find a man who can foretell the future, stars screen favorite Sheldon Leonard on "You Jeweler's Showcase" on Sunday, November 16, at 10 p.m. over WFAR-TV.

Hardway (Leonard) and his partner, Horde, played by Robert Sweeney, stop at a small town

Hardway and Horde persuade their new friend to provide the scenes of tomorrow's baseball games. The gamblers are sent on their way to a fortune and their lookie on his way to the posthouse. Fast and funny complications, involving the wife's pretty daughter (Barbara Whitling), set in, however. In a surprise climax Hardway and Horde find themselves a couple of mad and very sharpies.

UNIQUE OPTICAL SERVICE OFFERED TO RESIDENTS OF VIRGINIA BEACH AND PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY

The Salasky Optical Co., a name known to residents of Princess Anne County for over 40 years and located NOW at 2101 Atlantic Avenue, across from Cherry-Pearson's Men's Shop — has been offering to the people of this community an optical service that is generally associated only with a metropolitan area.

This service is quick, accurate, and reliable. For those who have the misfortune to need optical repairs and cannot be without their eyeglasses, the Salasky Optical Co. can make these repairs, while you wait and thereby NOT have to be without your good vision for all your workday seeing.

Eyeless frames, minor adjustments and repairs are made while you wait. Replacement of lens, or lenses, and new eyeglasses, all in a "one day service." This eliminates that unnecessary trip to Norfolk which entails its many problems, such as transportation to the city, the problem of parking, and that feeling of not feeling like "home folks in a strange place."

The Salasky Optical Co. has had this branch of its business on the beach for a number of years and is personally conducted by Dr. Stanley Salasky — who resides in Virginia Beach the year around. The other branches of the Salasky Optical Co. are located in Norfolk, Portsmouth, and Newport News, Va.

GRAND JURY TO RESUME PROBE SOON

RECESSED THIS WEEK

The Princess Anne County grand jury will resume its hearing of witnesses next Saturday after recessing one week. Three additional witnesses have been called by the jury, bringing to 27 the total number called.

The grand jury heard witnesses all day last Saturday in its questioning regarding gambling and the illegal sale of whiskey in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, then recessed for one week.

Two of the original 24 witnesses failed to appear at the opening of the grand jury session, and Commonwealth's Attorney Paul W. Akins was instructed to subpoena them for these and three additional witnesses. The two original witnesses failing to appear were Col. R. A. Little, director of Whitehorn Drive, Norfolk, and Robert Powell, or Robert Lowman, a special investigator of New York whose address was listed as being in care of Colonel Little.

The three new witnesses were listed as Marvin H. Brown of Bowling Green, Portsmouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ray of 319 - 24th street, Virginia Beach.

There was no indication that the three new names were in connection with the gambling and illegal sale of whiskey investigation.

Original subpoenas for Little and Powell were returned marked "not found." It was determined that Little's name was spelled "Lilly," therefore it was suggested that the subpoenas be reissued.

The Cavalier Hotel and Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club have given up their license to sell wine and beer, it was revealed this week by the Virginia State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

The Cavalier Jefferson Corporation, operators of the two beach establishments, relinquished the license after having been charged with having allowed patrons to keep and consume whiskey on the premises during the past summer. The corporation contended that it operated a private club and did not violate rules of the ABC board.

The action of the Cavalier Corporation coincides with the action taken by several other restaurants and clubs in the state to discontinue the sale of liquor since the ABC board has stepped a campaign to stamp out the practice of whiskey drinking in public — in establishments licensed only for the sale of wine and beer.

Legion Auxiliary Backs Girls' Work

Girls' State is a program of the American Legion Auxiliary which provides practical application of Americanism and good citizenship. It is a non-political, non-partisan attempt to teach and inculcate in the girls of America a love of God and country.

Girls' State provides a week's training in citizenship for girls of high school age. They live together as self-governing citizens and learn the duties of citizenship, civic and patriotic responsibilities of American citizenship in order that they may understand and be a part of a functioning government. It helps them to grasp the responsibilities which they must assume when they become adults.

Qualifications for girls being selected by their principals are: leadership, character, courage, honesty, self-reliance, cooperativeness and physical fitness.

The three girls selected this year for Girls' State were Carolyn Meachum, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Virginia Beach; Louise Riberidge, sponsored by the Rotarian Club of Princess Anne County, and JoAnn Thompson, sponsored by American Legion Auxiliary Post 113.

Postmaster Pleads For Early Mailing of Christmas Packages

Postmaster Howard R. Meyer believes a word or two to the wise will help make Christmas as merry as it should be.

"The 1952 Christmas season," he said, "is officially under way. Here at the post office, we have an enormous job. Our main concern is delivery of all gift packages and Christmas cards by December 25."

"There's about 154 million people in this country, more than ever before. More people, more Christmas mail. This means, of course, that a helping hand from the public really is necessary."

"It's a pleasure for me to explain what can be done. As for the post office, we're getting all we can do a good job."

Postmaster Meyer has urged local post offices to want to expedite. He predicts this year's Christmas mail will set a new all-time record, about 2,500,153 pieces of mail cancelled here in 1951.

Similar records are anticipated all over the United States. During Christmas season, the Post Office Department will make as many deliveries as necessary up to Christmas Day, including residential areas which now receive one delivery daily.

Last minute parcels and special delivery mail will be distributed on December 25 in cities and villages, but not in rural areas. All business firms are requested to withhold circular and catalogue mail, and to post regular correspondence by 4 p. m. each day during December.

By 4 p. m. mailers is important; the earlier the better. The postmaster emphasized it is "everybody's business" to follow this time-table for all Christmas mailings:

Mail Parcel Post
By Dec. 15 for overseas. By Dec. 5 for out-of-state. By Dec. 10 for local delivery.

Mail Christmas Cards
By Dec. 15 for overseas. By Dec. 10 for out-of-state. By Dec. 10 for local delivery.

Yuletide mail for overseas has been going out in a steady flow for several weeks. There's still time for delivery in most foreign countries. But after Dec. 1, all gifts going abroad should be sent by air parcel post and all Christmas cards by air mail.

"Just keeping an eye on the calendar isn't enough," continued Postmaster Meyer. "There's how to avoid disappointing friends and loved ones. I think it makes good sense."

"Visit the post office this week while the crowds are still small. Buy all those extra stamps you'll need, and ask any questions you may have about registered mail or insured packages."

FIRST 'BEACH BOWL' GAME SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

ROTARY-SPONSORED TRI EXPECTED TO DRAW CROWD

"Turkey Bowl" Pits Kempville Against Oceana

Kempville's high flying Blue Devils and Oceana's elusive Cavaliers will clash in the annual Turkey Bowl football game at Kempville stadium Friday night. Kickoff time is set for 8 o'clock.

The two teams are each rivals in Princess Anne County and it is hard to figure the game. Past records never mean anything when the two clubs meet.

Coach Lester Hall of Kempville has been pointing his charges for this game all season and the same holds true of Coach C. C. Smith of Oceana.

Both clubs finished heavy work in preparation for the annual clash on Wednesday and light work is the order of the day today.

The rivals have shown an in and out tendency this season, both winning a spotty won and lost record. Their respective strength is judged by experts as about even, so a good, tight game is in prospect.

The bowl game will be complete with a queen, parade and elaborate halftime ceremonies. A record crowd is anticipated since advance ticket sales have been brisk.

Both teams boast of individual stars, but Friday's game seems as a team can win and every man has a chance to shine. The game is all in this game, which is regarded as the most important on the respective opponents' schedule.

Local Teams to Attend 4-H Club Congress at Chicago

Virginia's delegation to the 1952 national 4-H Club Congress will leave the day after Thanksgiving for a week's visit in Chicago.

The congress is designed to honor state and national winners of 4-H contests, with luncheons, dinners, recreation events, tours and entertainments. Many sponsors of 4-H contests, professional workers, International Farm Youth Exchanges and others are expected to attend.

Among state winners from Virginia is Hunter Spencer, Princess Anne, recreation and rural arts. To attend the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago at the same time are Ira Fisk and David Stewart, Princess Anne.

Christmas Workshop

A Christmas Workshop for the Girl Scouts will be held November 14 at the Ocean Park firehouse. It has been announced. The workshop will last from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

This is an annual affair given by the Girl Scouts to the volunteer workers in appreciation of the latter's services during the year.

Beach Much Less Lawless Than Nation, Report Shows

Major crimes in Virginia Beach with one exception have been on the decline during the past year, according to figures released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

In its Uniform Crime Report, the FBI lists major crimes on the decline in Virginia Beach in every classification, save larceny.

The Virginia Beach record is unique in that most areas in the United States have shown an increase in major crimes with the exception of rape.

The period covered is for the first six months of 1952 against the same six months of 1951. A slight increase in larceny crimes in Virginia Beach is noted. There were 124 such crimes last year during the first six months and 137 this year for the same period.

In 1951 there was one case of rape in Virginia Beach during the first six months and there has been no such case this year. There were two murders last year and none reported this year.

606th Transport Takes Part in Logistics Exercise

The 606th Transportation Amphibious Truck Company from Fort Story took part in a logistical support problem recently conducted at the transportation center, Fort Eustis. It brought into play coordinated action of all major commands at Fort Eustis, to demonstrate the mission of the Transportation Corps in moving personnel and material in support of Army elements. On hand were members of Congress, officials of the Department of Defense, representatives of transportation organizations of the Tidewater area, and students of the Armed Forces service schools.

The men of Fort Story's 606th T. A. T. Company supplied and manned DUKWS, and other military vehicles on their part, engaging in loading and unloading activities, and sailing in the ship-to-shore phases of the problem. Highlighting was the use of a down helicopter in the handling of cargo. These machines, of the new H-19 cargo-hauling type, operated in the vicinity of a beach from the flat deck of a converted freight supply ship.

Lt. Dean F. Hall of the 606th Transportation Amphibious Truck Company was in charge of the men and equipment supplied by Fort Story. Lieutenant Hall is a resident of Virginia Beach.

UNIQUE OPTICAL SERVICE OFFERED TO RESIDENTS OF VIRGINIA BEACH AND PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY

The Salasky Optical Co., a name known to residents of Princess Anne County for over 40 years and located NOW at 2101 Atlantic Avenue, across from Cherry-Panama's Men's Shop — has been offering to the people of this community an optical service that is generally associated only with a metropolitan area.

This service is quick, accurate, and reliable. For those who have the misfortune to need optical repairs and cannot be without their eyeglasses, the Salasky Optical Co. can make these repairs, while you wait and thereby NOT have to be without your good vision for all your workday seeing.

Eyeglass frames, minor adjustments and repairs are made while you wait. Replacement of lens, or lenses, and new eyeglasses, all in a "one day service." This eliminates that unnecessary trip to Norfolk which entails an its many problems, such as transportation to the city, the problem of parking, and that feeling of not being like "home-folks in a strange place."

The Salasky Optical Co. has had this branch of their business on the beach for a number of years and is personally conducted by Dr. Stanley Salasky — who resides at Virginia Beach the year around. The other branches of the Salasky Optical Co. are located in Norfolk, Portsmouth, and Newport News, Va.

When the alarm sounds
The volunteer fire department is a great team in co-operation. When the alarm sounds, they all over town drop whatever they are doing and race for the engine house. This type of neighborhood is important on the party-line telephone. In emergency—such as fire or sickness—people usually reach for their telephone to summon aid. In such emergencies, anyone using the fire will hang up quickly. This act of courtesy increases the value of everyone's party-line telephone.

Whoops!
Every day engineers of Western Electric, supply unit of the Bell System, test the new telephones turned out by the factory. In the picture, telephones are being dropped onto a hardwood surface from 16 different positions. In other tests, receivers are hung up 22,000 times—equivalent to 4 years' average use; dials are turned repeatedly; bases of telephones are checked to make sure they won't scratch or stain furniture. All this is done to make certain telephone customers get the best possible service. Your telephone company seeks out trouble before it troubles you.

Legion Sponsors 'Boy's State' In Every State in Union

Designed to interest teen-age boys in the principles of good government, Boy's State is one of the American Legion's most effective youth training activities. The Legion now sponsors annually Boy's States in all 48 states. More than 18,000 boys attend.

Since the beginning of the program in 1935, more than 250,000 boys have received through the project training in civic government. In the program, the youths "learn by doing."

The Boy's and Girl's States are, in effect, summer camps staffed by high school students selected for leadership qualities. They are sponsored by Legion posts. Auxiliary units or civic groups which pay their expenses.

Each "State" is organized into cities and counties which form a mythical 49th state. The youths then form two political parties, adopt platforms, nominate candidates, and elect their government officials.

They elect a governor and fill every other elective office, set up their own state legislature, courts, and law-enforcement agencies. They enact their own laws, enforce them, and simulate every function of state government.

In this way, they learn how the people govern themselves in free America and how good government depends directly upon the individual citizen's interest and participation in it.

During the past summer, 400 boys and 400 girls attended the Boy's and Girl's States sponsored by the Virginia American Legion at VPI, Blacksburg. They came from every section of the state. The great success of the Boy's State program led the American Legion in 1946 to inaugurate a Boy's Nation held annually in Washington, D. C. There 96 boys from 48 states study the mechanics of federal government. They stage mock national political conventions, elect a "boy President," and hold a "Senate session."

Our post sent three boys to Blacksburg to take part in this program. In selecting these boys, Post 113 took no part, asking that the principals of our three county high schools select a boy from the junior class to represent the school. Selected were: From Kempsville, Eugene Rawls; from Gretna, James Lindsay; from Ocean View, Tony Wadsworth. The Post takes pride in the fact that Eugene Rawls was elected governor of Boy's State for the 1952 session. They also take pleasure in presenting the following reports from their three representatives to Boy's State:

Cavalier Garden Club Meets at Galilee Church

The Cavalier Garden Club met at the parish house of Galilee Episcopal Church Monday, November 10, with Mrs. Gilmore Tibbroke presiding.

Mrs. Rudolph Watson gave an account of the joint meeting of representatives of the men's and women's organizations of the community to study plans to finance the civic beautification project of Atlantic avenue.

The state having given $50,000 to the project, $12,000 is to be raised by contributions of property owners of the community. Of this, $5,000 has been raised. The plan has been proposed that organizations each take the project of planting one block. The Rotarians have taken one block and the Lions Club will present this idea to their board.

Mrs. Frank Burke-on gave an account of the work of her committee on the landscaped drive to contact property owners not having been approached for their financial aid. About three thousand dollars has been raised by this committee to date.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will turn over the proceeds of their November paper drive to the project. The Council of Garden Clubs asks that this be a goodly sum and that everyone save papers and magazines for the paper collection Sunday, November 30.

GARDEN GAB

We hope you all read, and enjoyed as we did, the article in a recent paper about the beauty rampant at Annapolis Gardens. We are so used to thinking of these gardens as only of seasonal beauty; now we must realize they are open to visitors year around and there is always much beauty to be found there. Why don't you drive out soon?

One thing that was of great interest to us was the Sasanqua Camellias in bloom now. We had been reading about this camellia, and promising ourselves at least two for our garden.

Planning to best advantage should be done in the spring, preferably just before their period of shoot growth, or as this is completed and before buds for the next bloom are developed. Transplanting is fairly easy, due to the compact and fibrous roots, though they should be planted carefully and never be allowed to dry out.

Immediately after planting, apply a much of about three inches of slightly acid compost or any clean mulching material. This much should be maintained continuously. Sasanquas start blooming in September or October, continuing well into the winter. Can you imagine anything nicer, for it is at this time we feel our garden is beginning to lose its flower and get ready for winter.

This should be good news for those who are renting your homes; these camellias do well in pots or tubs. Their smaller leaves, arching slender branches, and delicate white or pink flowers give them a charm and grace different from the compact and heavy specimens of Japanese camellias, though we never fail to glory in their beauty too.

Some named variety of Sasanquas have double flowers, but they mostly have single blossoms measuring from 1 1/2 to 3 inches across with from five to nine petals. One camellia rule is growing camellias is to insure them a generous amount of moisture. Remember, they will not thrive in a location that is excessively wet or where water stands for any length of time. They are not so particular as to the type of soil, but one made of a mixture of peat or humus and porous loam gives very good results. (Continued on Page Four)

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

Virginia-Woman's Editor

"Woman's World," 9:30 A.M., Monday-Saturday, and "Repeat Performance," Tuesday and Thursday at 6:45 P.M. over WTAR, feature Mrs. White's chatter about chattering, homemaking, garden and civic events.

With gift giving and holiday party clothes becoming the No. 1 problem, now that elections are out of the way, the season for "separates" goes into high gear.

Dorothy Kirby, famous designer of blouses, evening tops and skirts, has the situation well in hand. Her new holiday collection has dozens of ideas for gift-giving and partying outfit—priced so wonderfully that any girl can turn out in a half dozen new ensembles completely right for the first big after-the-game dance to the big New Year's Eve party.

Football jersey tops are the loves for football weekend fashion looks. Ranging from a cover-up top, delicately etched in silver braid, with tiny sleeves and ribbed—sweater bottom, to a very bare shoulder scoop neckline affair with push-up dolman sleeves and a cuffed cummerbund bottom, the Kirby tricks are neat.

Pearls, silver metallic thread, rhinestones enhance modern life play pretty highlights on these very flexible, flattering jersey tops.

Loose, traditionally in the holiday limelight, is used by Dorothy Kirby in many themes that include a handsome French-cut sleeveless shirtwaist fashioned of nylon and nylon lace to a very wispy of a bare—shoulder sheath, illuminated with a delicate hand-painted design and tiny rhinestones.

For the really big look in the evening, luxurious looking satin, new in "separates," and handled with the importance of a ball dress. While satin skirt with tulleis nylon lace blouse is a unique combination and will give you an idea of how "mixed up" the separates are really going to be come Christmas!

The "gorgeous girl" look, order of the evening, this sumptuous fashion season, accentuates the importance of elaborate costume jewelry worn with a "bird-on-a-branch" or "cathedral" design of this winter's evening fashions—the completely covered-up dress of fabulous richness, and the dress with the daringly bare-topped bodice—agree on the important point of ornate and dramatic jewelry.

This all-one-way or all-the-other attitude about fashion makes sparkling, frankly fake jewelry a first thought for Christmas. Jewel tone stones and lots of sparkling rhinestones are combined in the new holiday jewelry. The jabot necklace, so important with bare topped necklines, comes in gleaming jet combined with pear shaped rhinestones, as well as in soft pastel colored pearlized beads and boasts its own matching bracelet and earrings.

With a costume that calls for brown accents, try tortoise jewelry. A few pieces in polished wood have been made also to go with sports clothes. Amber, creamy pearls, combined with gold, harmonize with late-day costumes nicely and make wonderful Christmas gifts.

In selecting holiday gifts for Yuletide giving, select those in light tints for evening, in darker skin tones for daytime. A few grayed beige tones are suggested for black and dark gray, but the majority are in beige or pastel skin colors.

The MIXING BOWL

IT'S FUN TO COOK

Belief! Are you planning a family affair or a Saturday guest supper? If you are, Chambrays—yes, lacy Chambrays—will win rave from your hungry audience. They're really appealing and long—for those burgers are really good.

This recipe was personally developed and tested out in the "Land of Lakes" country where milk, cream and butter are in abundance.

Chambrays

2 eggs
1 cup minced clams
1 cup toasted bread crumbs
3 tablespoons milk
2 teaspoons flour
1-4 teaspoon salt, dash pepper
Beat eggs, add clams and juice.

Mix bread crumbs, milk, cheese and seasoning, add to egg mixture. Brown by spoonfuls of the clam mixture in frying pan using enough fat to brown nicely. Serve with tartar sauce and garnish with green wedges.

The Food Review for November tells us that November's horn of plenty should pour out a wide array of foods in plentiful supply—not only for the traditional Thanksgiving feast but for menus throughout the month.

Turkeys are in heavy supply and indications are that prices will be reasonable.

Turkeys are moving to market from a record breaking crop of about 50 million birds—13 per cent more than last year.

For raisins, production this year has been estimated at more than 290,000 tons compared to 247,000 tons last year.

Table grapes are plentiful, and California is expecting a crop about one-fourth above the 10-year average.

Carrots, this fall, have reached the largest production since 1940.

Florida orange production will be about 2 million boxes larger than last season. It's interesting to note that the early and mid-season orange production will total about 81 million boxes—lot of oranges, I'd say. Enjoy oranges—they contain lots of vitamin C—and what a pleasant way to get that much-needed vitamin.

Orange Custard Pudding

1-3 cup cornstarch
1-2 cup sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 cup cold milk
2 cups scalded milk

Mix cornstarch, sugar, salt; add cold milk and stir until smooth. Add to scalded milk. Cook 15 minutes in double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture thickens; afterwards stir occasionally. Be sure it is very thick and smooth. When cool, add one cup orange sections and chill. Serve with topping of whipped cream.

Bye now. See you next Thursday.

multimaterials and other decorative means in shafts and bases. Crystal balls, ceramic inserts, glass that can be pulled from above the shade to the base are typical examples.

The rag rug theme has been the inspiration for an extensive group of new designs in carpeting. American Provincial is an up and coming design theme today. Watch for the greater interest in the colonial home theme in rugs, one which suits so well the ranch-home style, the casual interior so popular today.

Homeowners will find that style at a price is the primary keynote of today's new crop of floor coverings. In an effort to present a wider variety of patterns to the fashion conscious, but budget-minded, homeowner, the mills have been offering their newest textures, patterns and colorings in their medium to low price lines.

Synthetics continue to play a vital role. Vinyl plastic has been utilized both for textural and colorful effects in combination with natural fibers.

Cotton is attracting merited interest this year for rugs and papers have been put on the back of tufted cotton carpet. The purpose is twofold—the carpeting can be laid more easily and remains flatter.

Decorative fabrics feature the smallest, more delicate, designs—and the saga of surface interest is on the wane.

Small incomes have increased by considerably greater percentages than large incomes since 1938, according to a Committee for Economic Development analysis.

Deep-rooted trees make better companions for clematis, but they grow well giving surface-rooted trees if additional care is given in feeding and watering.

We are watching with interest the improvement to Seaside Park property. A committee from the Council of Garden Clubs says they have talked with the owners of that property and find them most cooperative and we are all enthusiastic about this renovation. The plans sound good. We have the owners of that property to thank for removing the plants from two of the beds just around the planting on the right-of-way. Some one pointed these plants white and we know a lot of women who were just sick about it. Isn't it grand when citizens care enough about our city to do up their property and keep it so?

Korean Diplomat Addresses Legion Governing Body

The Korean ambassador to the United States told the National Executive Committee of The American Legion here that his country can not long remain a puppet in the hands of the Communists if America will provide the arms.

"Give us the guns and save your soul!" declared Dr. You Chen Yang in a stirring address that brought him the greatest standing ovation accorded any speaker before the three-day session of The American Legion's governing body between national conventions.

Dr. Yang hit at "cowardly, shameful violence" which "imply" the United Nations should pull out of Korea and those which "urge a stalemate under any and all circumstances."

He warned the Legionnaires to beware of Communist propaganda for "an honorable peace" in Korea to resist attempts to negotiate anything but a victorious peace.

"Not in Habit of Losing Wars"

"Thank God, the United States of America is not in the habit of losing wars," the diplomat said, and the change of his historical record does not show a single draw—only losses with the enemy down for the count.

Dr. Yang said it was inconceivable to Koreans that the free world should scuttle and run from Korea. Thus surrendering inconspicuously to the anti-God, anti-Christ despotism of the Kremlin. Even if left alone, the Koreans "still have the guts to want to fight on against the Red monster," he pledged.

"But if we have to go it alone and are exterminated, the wound given to our spirit will be like an evil, cancerous growth that will spread far beyond the confines of our little country — it will spread like a malignant Red infection of desolation and death that may envelop the whole world."

The ambassador said that when American troops first arrived in Korea in 1909, they did not have a very high opinion of the Korean G. I. and labeled him as a "gook." But the Republic of Korea soldiers' threatening good performance in battle has given the Yankis a new respect and they now call him the "hard ROE," he said.

LEGIONNAIRES ON PARADE

This American Legion is a great organization, and one of its greatest glories is taking part in parades. Here you see South Department Commander William Kellam, Commander Lemuel Walker and Legionnaire Dave Wells step the American Legion float in a recent parade. The young lady is Miss Helen Ann Fenton, whose float just appeared in the Queen of the South Parade on the Virginia Beach.

"May Leave American Border"

"We have a first-class, battle-tested fighting force ready to go," Dr. Yang said, "but of even more importance, so we may keep the American border in Korea, we have a shipowner ready to take us to the 750,000 additional men under arms—if we had the arms. Please help us to get the arms and the training, the planes, tanks, artillery and other equipment that play such a vital part in modern warfare. Every new Korean on the battlefield will mean one less American boy."

He said that World War II already is going on in Korea as a trial run of the Soviet war machine.

"The frontier of freedom is Korea," he said. "When we roll back Communism to the Yalu River, we will have protected Western Europe, North and South America, Africa and that part of Asia, including the Pacific archipelagoes, which still remain free. And peace, for which we all yearn, will be assured for generations to come."

The ambassador was introduced to the Legion leaders by National Commander Lewis E. Gough of Freeborn, Calif., as "one of the young heroes of Pearl Harbor." On the morning of Sunday, December 7, 1941, when the Japanese attack struck, he, who was an operating surgeon at the Trivler General Hospital in Honolulu, was at his home there. He rushed immediately to the hospital, where he ministered to the wounded for two almost sleepless weeks. "More than 500 American servicemen may owe their lives to Dr. Yang's heroic service," said Commander Gough.

FRANKLIN

The President of the Constitution of The American Legion has often been called one of the great leaders of the English language. In its expression of the principles of The American Legion, it has no equal. It has become the pattern for the declaration of principles of many other organizations.

Speaking with words of patriotic thought, the preamble is part of the oath of membership which every Legionnaire swears:

"For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:

"To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America;

"To maintain law and order;

"To foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism;

Dickson Has Praise For American Legion

EXTENSION OF REMARKS OF Hon. Everett M. Dickson of Illinois

In the Senate of the United States Monday, March 31, 1932

Mr. Dickson: Mr. President, on Sunday, March 14, Paul Harvey, nationally known radio commentator with a great listening audience, paid high tribute to the American Legion over the ABC network on the occasion of the thirty-third anniversary of the birth of this great service organization.

As one who has served as a district commander in that organization and as a member of the executive committee for the Department of Illinois, I can modestly assert that this fine testimony on the part of Paul Harvey to the achievements and patriotic service of the American Legion is richly deserved. It gives me great pride, therefore, to insert in the Congressional Record by the unanimous consent of this body this fine tribute because it will be a reminder to all who read it that there does exist in America a great group of men who served the country in time of war and who with equal fidelity served it in time of peace.

There being no objection, the address was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

The American Legion

Now, something to slumber on. Once upon a time there was an ideal. A very big ideal. Big enough to strain the arms of many men. And when the light was won, amidst the stench of mustard gas and death they found it wounded. Their ideal — lying wounded and dying in the blood-stained mud of France. They raised it, bandaged it, nursed it, and brought it home. It's hard to baptize an ideal with a name. If this were the story of a man — but this is the story of many men — and, as I say, an ideal. It was 33 years ago tonight and half a world away that men with a "bee" joined hands. Tired, homesick, miserable, magnificent men. Pooled the remnants of their spent strength, to shoulder their wounded ideal and bring it home. And they called themselves the American Legion.

I would not on this anniversary of its birth seek to improve history. Only to review it. And, in this later hour, try to redefine the purpose — the ideal. If we can see it in the light as they saw it that initial American Legionnaire came to realize that right and perpetual responsibility. That they were not of the government yet, nor would they be. Perpetual eternal vigilance would be the price of liberty. Men, men to celebrate, must fight again. And fight they did. Four of them lay dead where darkness fell. They were men and they were not men, freedom men.

A year, a long year, it took them to get back to the States. Men, men to celebrate, must fight again. And fight they did. Four of them lay dead where darkness fell. They were men and they were not men, freedom men.

But the fight was on and the job was done by the Silver Bow Post of the American Legion.

The Legion still celebrated victory in the twenties. Closed ranks on common problems in the thirties and, in the lean times, stayed in step. The forties, other warbirds threatened, something happened. Conventions had been fun, that part that showed. Tin hats, glistering bayonets, banners, uniforms, blaring at the waist. Tipperary, paries vons, of past accomplishments was where's Elmer? and blistered feet. Water bombs and electric canes. Suddenly the celebrating of past accomplishments was over. Almost at once a looking-back, laughing Legion about-faced the future. And grew up.

Another war. Americans shoulder to shoulder. From the alt trenches of Italy to the foxholes of the Philippines, United States of America fought for an American ideal. Another victory. And then this night in March in 1952.

Without a war to call us to bind us close, with Americans praying to God but not listening to Him, one grass-roots force among us, alerted by another need, is on the march again. Re-inforcements moving to the breach. Our arms are ready; our hearts are weak. And the ideal lives or dies in the hearts of men. Again tonight, indignant doughboys of another day, want to get it over and get home. Their "beef" is war that is neither hot nor cold. American blood on a mongrel flag, and blind leaders hesitantly pointing the way for men who can see. And so we here rededicate this Legion for God and country, associate together as the Pilgrims carried rifles to the church, stand guard now others at its open door. For God and country. The Legion in its constitution, is pledged to foster and perpetuate a 100-per-cent Americanism. Not just by today's 10-percenters, but 32 years ago the Legion was criticized because it hadn't compromised for less.

Tonight, on every weak flank through which freedom might escape us, the temple guard stands watch. No, now you see that, this was never meant to be the story of young Teddy Roosevelt or Warren G. Grimm or Bennett Clark, or Wild Bill Donovan. This is the story of the American ideal and the American Legion. And look out, enemies of these.

Walton G. Holland, above, was the first Commander of American Legion Post 113 in 1931 when the local group was chartered. Holland again served as Commander in 1944-45. He is a native of Virginia Beach.

From 100 tons of dry sugar cane, 2,900 gallons of molasses, 3,430 gallons of medium oil, 1,210 gallons of lubricating oil, and 8.45 tons of raw sugar can be made.

The average worker's real wages per hour will double in the next 30 years if the productivity rate of the last 50 can be maintained. The Committee for Economic Development says.

There's courage here we haven't even used yet; 3,000,000 men are closing ranks again—3,000,000 time-proved keepers of the flame. Paul Harvey. Goodnight.

Red Feather in Fashion at Story

The red feather was fashionable at Fort Story during October. All previous records were topped by a wave of contributions. The Community Chest fund was swelled by a total of $7,659.24—$600.94 given by units officially assigned to the post and $558.30 collected in the ranks of C. Company of the 6th Battalion T. R. T. C. at Fort Story.

In 1952, $900.51 was collected at Fort Story; this did not include the training company, which was not there at the time. Capt. John K. Miller, S-3 officer for the post, and chairman for the drive, announced the final figures and expressed his appreciation to all who helped make this campaign the most successful ever.

OBSERVANCE OF 'LEGION WEEK' ON NATION-WIDE SCALE

This week, Post 113 of Princess Anne and other American Legion groups throughout the great Commonwealth are observing what has been designated as "American Legion Week." It is significant that it comes during the week of Armistice Day.

Purpose of the observance is to better inform the general public of the aims and purposes of this great body of representative Americans.

Certainly, a better cross-section of the American people than the American Legion. Representing veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict, the American Legion has within its ranks three million men and women from every community in the land, men of varying color, creed and political persuasion.

But if Legionnaires are a diverse group in these respects, they are singularly unified in their dedication of service "For God and Country." They have a common denominator of bravery and loyalty. There has been the greatest contribution to America — because they have fought and many of their comrades have died to preserve its independence and the rights of free men. Through The American Legion these veterans have made themselves heard the length and breadth of the land as they seek to safeguard our free institutions against threats which press on from every side.

Through numerous programs, the Legion has, over the years, sought to inculc in our youth a deeper appreciation of true Americanism. For instance, many thousands of youngsters learn more about the United States Constitution, participating in the Legion's annual National Constitution among high school students. They are urged to have their own copies of the Constitution. Thousands of boys are taught the qualities of good sportsmanship, fair play, teamwork, and respect for rules as the basis of future good citizenship through the Legion's annual Junior Baseball program. There are other Legion programs of great importance.

From its very beginning, The American Legion has been concerned with the rehabilitation of the disabled veteran. As an organization it has helped secure through its legislative efforts the finest medical care for these former fighting men through a nationwide network of veterans' hospitals. Through its individual members, The American Legion has brought to the patient's bedside professional counsel, sympathetic understanding and hope for the future. The American Legion is helping the nation fulfill that obligation recognized by President Lincoln: "to care for him who shall have borne the battle, his widow and orphan." This is noble work.

If only for the Americanism it champions and its work in behalf of disabled veterans, the American Legion deserves the support of all Americans.

LEGION-SPONSORED JUNIOR BASEBALL WORLD'S LARGEST

Lewis K. Gough, 44, of Pasadena, Calif., was elected National Commander of The American Legion for 1952-53 at the 34th annual national convention of the world's largest veterans' organization in New York City, August 28, 1952.

A Navy veteran of World War II with the rank of Commander, Gough was State Insurance Tax Appraiser for California, from which post he obtained a year's leave of absence. From 1931 to 1940 he was associated with the University of Southern California, his alma mater, as assistant to the president, public relations officer for the university and executive director of its alumni association.

In five years Gough has advanced from Commander of his American Legion post to the highest office in this worldwide organization. He served as Commander of PAsadena Post No. 13 in 1947 and as Commander of California's 18th District in 1948. He was elected Department Commander of California for 1949-50 and as National Vice-Commander of The American Legion for 1950-51. He has rendered distinguished service on a number of committees in the national and state organizations.

Gough was born in Los Angeles, April 21, 1908, the son of Robert W. and Hazel Ketchum Gough. He attended the city schools and was graduated from Los Angeles High School in 1927. At the University of Southern California, where he was elected a member of Phi Kappa Phi honorary scholastic fraternity, he was awarded the Trojan Diamond Medal for scholarship and received his bachelor's degree as an honor graduate in 1931. Gough was elected president of the Associated Student Body of the University of Southern California. He served as president of the Western Student Body Presidents Association. He is a member of Chi Phi social fraternity and of the Board of Directors of the university's alumni Association.

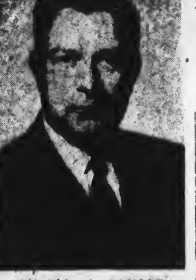

A graduate and former instructor at the U. S. Naval War College, Gough served during World

GOV. BATTLE COMMENDS OBSERVANCE OF WEEK

During these critical times Americans everywhere must give deep thought to achieving the things which tend to unite us against those who would destroy freedom for all mankind.

The tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington is more than the grave of one American. . . it is symbolic of man's fight for freedom and the dignity of the human soul.

It is on Armistice Day that the minds of Americans are more clearly focused on the eternal struggle for peace with freedom. It is also a time which causes us to renew our determination to carry on the fight.

Patriotic organizations and groups of all kinds should redouble their efforts to make this year's observance of Armistice Day as universal as possible. It is significant that the Virginia American Legion, whose members fought — and many of their comrades died — to preserve the independence and rights of free men, should set aside the week of Armistice Day as "American Legion Week."

During the week, Legion Posts throughout this great Commonwealth will bring to the public's attention the aims and activities of the Posts designed to promote a more perfect citizenship on the part of us all.

I invite the cooperation of all our citizens in this commendable effort.

WM. KELLAM UNANIMOUS VA. CHOICE

William P. "BUN" Kellam of Virginia Beach was unanimously and without opposition elected Commander of the Virginia Department of the American Legion at the Department's annual convention in Richmond August 8-10, 1952.

The 38-year-old Virginia Beach real estate and insurance executive has been highly active in the Legion since his return from service in World War II.

Immediately following his separation from military service in 1945, he became a member of Princess Anne Post 113. In 1945 he was elected finance officer of the post. During his tenure as the post's head in 1949-50, the Virginia Beach post increased its membership from 187 to 500 and erected one of the finest Legion post homes in the state.

Last year, Kellam was Department membership chairman when the Virginia Legion exceeded its previous year's membership for the first time since 1946. During the year, he also served as vice-commander of the 2nd District.

Kellam served his country during World War II from May 1941 to March 1946, receiving his honorable discharge as a captain in the airborne infantry, after having entered service as a private.

In addition to his interest in veterans affairs, Kellam has been active in many of the civic functions of his community. Among other things, he was president of (Cont. on Page 5, Section Two)

Membership Expected to Hit New High in '53

When Princess Anne Post 113 was formed in 1931 the total membership that year was 65 including the 22 charter members whose names are listed on the permanent charter dated August 12, 1931, as follows:

- Leroy O'Hines, Princess Anne, Va.
 - Thomas J. Wood, Munden, Va.
 - Robert W. Bonney, Oceana, Va.
 - P. H. Winston, Virginia Beach, Va.
 - James R. Wood, Virginia Beach, Va.
 - Linus A. Williams, Back Bay, Va.
 - H. K. Brock, Back Bay, Va.
 - Roy Smith, Oceana, Va.
 - Walter O. Holland, Virginia Beach, Va.
 - Guy M. Samms, Back Bay, Va.
 - Edwin B. Lindsey, Oceana, Va.
 - W. H. Grimstead, Creeds, Va.
 - S. W. Cason, RFD 2, Norfolk, Va.

 - A. T. Garrison, Virginia Beach, Va.
 - J. Clarence Hayman, Virginia Beach, Va.
- Although there was a decrease in membership the two years following the granting of a permanent charter, beginning with the year 1935 there was an increase that continued over a period of years. The lowest membership year since the formation of Post 113 was 1932 when there were only 48 members. The membership was in 1952 when the membership reached 551.
- The year of 1953 will undoubtedly be the largest membership year in the Post history when it is practically assured that the membership will reach 600.
- The membership of the Post since the granting of the charter was in 1931 through the year 1952 is listed as follows: 1931, 65; 1932, 48; 1933, 43; 1934, 63; 1935, 101; 1936, 125; 1937, 108; 1938, 140; 1939, 127; 1940, 143; 1941, 157; 1942, 159; 1943, 160; 1944, 167; 1945, 181; 1946, 372; 1947, 256; 1948, 268; 1949, 189; 1950, 442; 1951, 500; 1952, 551.
- The increase in Legion membership in the local post can be attributed to the growing interest in the various programs of the American Legion and to the active participation of the members

Post 113 of Princess Anne and other Legion Posts are a part of a vast organization with a colorful history.

The American Legion is the only major veterans' organization in the United States which was organized by fighting men overseas.

It sprang from the comradeship at arms of the members of the first AEP in World War I. They wanted to perpetuate the friendships which they formed in training camps at the front of the battle.

Some 500 delegates representing the various units of the first AEP met in Paris, France March 15 to 17, 1919, to discuss an organization of American veterans of World War I. They chose the name of The American Legion for their new association and left details of the organization to be completed at another caucus to be held in the United States.

The second caucus was held in St. Louis, Mo., May 3 to 10, 1919, with some 1,600 delegates in attendance from all over the United States. There, a constitution and by-laws were adopted, the famous Preamble was drafted, and Minneapolis, Minn., was chosen for the first national convention to be held November 10 to 12, 1919.

Many years later, Pope Pius XII told a group of visiting Legionnaires at Valletta City that "there is a grain bond uniting your members, forged in the unbreakable horrors of war, strengthened and purified by the memory of heroic sacrifices, affection and devotion."

The bond put his finger on the strong attraction which was to draw millions of American veterans into The American Legion. It started with the strong handicap of homeland-bound fighting men. It was kept going during its early days by warm hearts which sought to keep peace among the alien.

The St. Louis caucus, the heart of the unit was consecrated by a recognition of sacred obligations which gave purpose and direction to a pleasant association devoted to mutual helpfulness.

Since growth of The American Legion since 1919 has surpassed the fondest dreams of its founders. It has grown in 33 years into the largest veterans' organization in all history.

Today, it has 58 departments, more than 17,000 posts and 2,600,000 members. It has an Auxiliary with more than 970,000 members in approximately 14,000 units. It has two other affiliated organizations, the 40 & 8 with some 107,000 members and the 3 & 6 with 16,000 members.

Its combined assets on the Post, Department and National levels have been estimated as high as $300,000,000.

The American Legion became a two-war organization on October 29, 1942. On that date the President of the United States signed the Act amending the 1919 Congressional Charter of The American Legion to make honorably discharged veterans of World War II eligible for membership organizations. This was amended by Congressional action completed December 30, 1950, to make American veterans of the Korean war period eligible for membership.

It was not until the end of World War II that the impact of younger veterans was felt in the ranks of The American Legion. In 1944, more than 750,000 veterans of World War II rushed to join the Legion.

Today, younger veterans comprise more than two-thirds of the membership.

PA POST 113 HAS LONG AND PROUD HISTORY SINCE 1931

The American Legion first came to Princess Anne County in 1931 when at a meeting at Princess Anne Courthouse on September 22nd an application was made to C. Francis Cooke, State Chairman of the American Legion, State of Virginia, for a charter to be granted to a Post to be known as Princess Anne Post 51, State of Virginia.

These setting the original application for charter were:

- S. G. Harness, Lynnhaven, Va.
- Rodney C. Smith, Oceana, Va.
- W. H. Bell, Oceana, Va.
- W. H. Woodhouse, Oceana, Va.
- Wm. J. Ives, London Bridge, Va.
- Thomas M. Stornum, Virginia Beach, Va.
- John S. Stallings, Lynnhaven, Va.
- Ray A. Eaves, Virginia Beach, Va.
- R. W. Woodhouse, Jr., Virginia Beach, Va.
- Floyd T. Deary, Longton Bridge, Va.
- C. M. Woodhouse, Virginia Beach, Va.
- H. L. McClanahan, Virginia Beach, Va.
- Robert M. Cornick, Oceana, Va.
- Paul R. Forbes, Lynnhaven, Va.
- Roy Smith, Oceana, Va.

The charter when issued was mailed to Roy Smith who was the first Commander of the newly chartered Post. The first delegates to the State convention in Roanoke were Commander Smith and R. E. Brock of Back Bay.

The newly formed Post had no regular meeting place and it held its custom in homes in various homes and other places throughout the county.

Because of inactivity in the latter part of 1927 the original charter granted to Post 51 was cancelled by the National Executive Committee on May 17, 1928.

Princess Anne County was without an American Legion Post from that time until March 27, 1931, when a group met at Princess Anne Courthouse and applied for a charter.

The permanent charter was granted to Post 113, Princess Anne County, on August 13, 1931, and this post has remained an active and important post in the Department of Virginia.

The Post in all civic affairs of the cooperation of World War I and World War II members in the local Post is considered to be the finest in the state.

 - J. Clarence Hayman, Virginia Beach, Va.
- The first Commander of the newly formed Post 113 was Walton G. Holland of Virginia Beach, Va. The membership during the first year grew to 65 members.
- Post 113 at one time was granted a meeting place at 15th Street at Virginia Beach, Virginia, where the membership erected a small building which was a meeting place for the post. This property was later sold and the Post moved to 14th Street and the location for several years. The Post occupied this location for several years established the reputation all over the state as a good place for Legionnaires to assemble for good clean fun.
- Property values at that time were on the upgrade and it became necessary for the Legion to seek less expensive quarters. The Post then purchased a building on 19th Street and Modern Avenue and for the first time owned their clubhouse on a small amount of land. The building has been located at this location for many years. (Continued on page 6)

Legion Initiates Much Helpful Legislation at National Level

Since 1918, the American Legion has sponsored a vast amount of federal and state legislation to provide adequate care for disabled veterans and their dependents, war widows and orphans and to protect the rights and opportunities of all veterans and their families.

More than 300 major pieces of legislation affecting veterans' rights and benefits have been steered through Congress by the Legion.

There is today scarcely any federal or state law providing benefits for veterans which has not been enacted because of American Legion support.

The Legion has fought for years to establish the principle that the cost of rehabilitating disabled and handicapped veterans is as much a part of waging wars as is the building of battlements, planes, tanks and guns. The success of these American Legion legislative efforts over the years has made the American veteran the best cared for and best provided for on earth.

The Legion's greatest single legislative achievement is the authorship and successful sponsorship of the G. I. Bill of Rights for World War II veterans.

It was the first veterans' omnibus bill in American history. It was conceived, drafted and steered through Congress by the American Legion alone.

The Legion's only purpose in promoting the measure was to assure that veterans of World War II would be spared the heartbreaks and neglect which were the lot of the fighting men and women of World War I.

The G. I. Bill has turned out to be the greatest contribution which American education has ever received. Its impact in promoting higher schooling in the United States will be felt for generations. Approximately 7,500,000 World War II veterans have had some form of education or training under the G. I. Bill of Rights. More than 3,500,000 of them have gone to college, bringing the greatest boom in history to the nation's campuses; more than 2,000,000 have completed in schools below the college level; another 1,000,000 have taken on-the-job training; and 600,000 have trained on the farm.

In the first six years that the G. I. Bill was in operation, more than 2,700,000 veterans obtained guaranteed loans to buy homes and farms and to start businesses of their own. In this respect, the G. I. Bill has proved to be the greatest housing legislation ever enacted.

Few World War II veterans have failed to use some phase of the benefits under the G. I. Bill.

July 16 of this year Congress passed and the President signed another G. I. Bill of Rights, Public Law 555, for the men who served in uniform since the start of the Korean Conflict. Again, this bill was sponsored and piloted through the halls of Congress by the American Legion. It provides educational benefits, home and business loan guarantees, mulling - out pay, employment counseling and other benefits similar to those provided for World War II vets.

Illustrative of the organization's efforts on the State level is the fact that the last General Assembly, upon the urging of the Virginia Legion's Legislative Committee, passed legislation making absent voting, without registration or payment of poll tax, possible for Virginia men serving in the armed forces outside the State during the time of hostilities.

jected spending $54,200.00 in help to 6,700 children.

The Virginia Legion Department spent an additional $5,000 in aid to 240 children. Funds in this instance came from the Virginia Legion's annual Rehabilitation - Child Welfare Program. Under this program, little blue stamps are sent each year to Legion members only. In return contributions toward the organization's Rehabilitation and Child Welfare programs are submitted by the members. The money, which is in addition to regular appropriations to the programs from membership dues, is divided equally between the organization's Rehabilitation and Child Welfare programs. In the past two years, Virginia Legionnaires have contributed over $10,000 to the stamp plan.

Remarkable as the direct aid program is, it is overshadowed by the good the Legion has accomplished through its legislative successes on behalf of American children.

As an example, the organization fought for three years before it was successful in 1950 in obtaining an amendment to the Social Security Act making military service in World War II "covered employment" for Old Age and Survivors Insurance. This single legislative success will ultimately result in benefits of $300,000 primarily for widows and orphaned children of World War II veterans.

Other enlightened laws, both federal and state, to protect the rights of all children have been successfully sponsored. Standards for juvenile court procedures for training delinquents have been passed. The Legion has been successful in all Child Welfare programs. The American Legion's Child Welfare Program is the $1,000,000 American Legion Endowment Fund. Only earnings of the fund may be used and the only purpose for which they may be used is that of child welfare and rehabilitation for the veteran and his family.

Legion Praised for Work Done in Welfare Field

The American Legion achieved universal recognition in the welfare field.

Its standards have become the measure of enlightened child welfare activities throughout the country. And many foreign nations have sought the counsel and advice of The American Legion in meeting their own child care problems.

An all-time record in aid to children was set by the Legion's nationwide child welfare program during the 12-month period ending May 1, 1952.

Total American Legion aid to children for 1952 is $4,512,000, nearly a million dollars in excess of aid provided in 1951.

Since 1952, The American Legion and its affiliated organizations, the Legion Auxiliary, 46 & 8 and the 8 & 40, have expended more than $60,000,000 in providing for the emergency needs of the children of America.

The Virginia American Legion and its affiliated groups spent over $80,000 in aid to over 10,000 youngsters during the 12-month period ending May 1 of this year. Eighty-nine Virginia Posa

PRINCIPLE NO. 5

To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the Community, State, and Nation

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

Every program of The American Legion is in support of the idea that we shall depend upon the rule of the ballot rather than that of the bullet. The individual obligation is met year after year by the members of the Legion Post.

If we are to build a better Nation we must do it by developing better individuals. This obligation to us of the Legion is an individual matter. We cannot afford to sit back and let George do it. The influence of one life will live in service to humanity will do more to help others of the community live a better life and will do more to help bring the Kingdom of Heaven here upon earth than the speeches, laws, and regimentation of all time. If we are to bring about a harmonious balance in our community, state, and national life we must all develop a harmonious balance in our own lives.

Along with our vital World War II activities, the numerous educational, civic, social, and humanitarian phases of Legion activity offer opportunity to all for individual service. Let us all accept this challenge as an individual obligation and volunteer our services whenever needed. The individual contribution is all-important.

PRINCIPLE NO. 1

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

Membership in The American Legion is open to honorably discharged veterans of World Wars I and II. By associating in The American Legion, veterans can give meaning to their desire to support the first principle of the Preamble.

Because of our maturity and experience we realize what can happen in countries where the fundamental law of the land is overthrown by violence or circumvented by expediency. We know our National Constitution was produced by the supreme efforts of men inspired. It has been flexible enough to serve our people for 150 years and seems destined to serve our people as long as time endures. The Constitution is our guarantee of liberty, freedom, and democracy. It is older than the fundamental law of any other modern nation. It has stood the test of time. We are proud as citizens and Legionnaires to reaffirm our allegiance to it every time we open a Legion meeting.

'Poppy' Phrase Made Famous by Legion Auxiliary

Won't you buy a poppy, sir?" is a familiar phrase on the street corners of every town and city from New Orleans to Boston and Miami to Seattle, yet so often the reply is, "Oh, yes, but what are you selling them for this year?"

WHAT are we selling them for this year? This year, last year and all the years since they were made the National Flower of the American Legion Auxiliary it is and has been the same. To carry on and expand an ever-increasing Rehabilitation and Child Welfare Program sponsored by the American Legion and its Auxiliary.

By whom are the poppies made? Men who came back from the hell of Belleau Woods, Chateau Thierry, Amiens, Okinawa, Iwo Jima, St. Lo, and a hundred other such blood-soaked spots, to which soon will be added White Horse Mountain and others in Korea. What is Rehabilitation? To discuss it we would consume many columns of news print; to condense it, it is Service. Service of every imaginable magnitude and kind to aid for our veterans.

Entertainment is one service—to shorten long hospital days (many there be that stretch into years and decades, still others for what time there remains of life). Other services are: Remembrance for Christmas Birthdays and other holidays. Job assistance upon return home. Helping hands during the trying period of readjustment from military to civilian life. Understanding hearts and discreet help and advice when family or financial difficulties arise. Sometimes temporary help on the payment of rent and grocery bills. The list is endless. But practically always there is the need of money to alleviate the problems that are encountered by the veteran. Here blooms, most brilliantly, the little red poppy.

It is made entirely by hand. The funds derived from its sale, after the payment of the veterans for making poppies, is used for the foregoing purposes. Aside from this, and serving a great and wonderful purpose, being as we have just said, entirely made by hand, the owners of those hands are made to know they need not longer feel their hands are useless but still capable and needed to fulfill a great purpose, at the same time giving them a small financial return that helps them regain an inner feeling of comfort in being able to perform painful tasks.

Through the money derived from the poppy sales, Gift Shops established at each of the Veterans Hospitals in Virginia are stocked with gifts wherein the hospitalized veteran who has no money may go, select gifts without charge, have them wrapped and mailed to his loved ones. This is just a little of rehabilitation, but the readers will understand that its survival is dependent upon our Planders poppy.

of a Square Deal for Every Child. This it is striving to accomplish by considerate and concerted help for every veteran's child found to be in need. But it does not turn aside any child that is in need of help, and the means lie within its power to assist.

Broken homes, hospitalized parents, working mothers, and dozens of other factors contribute to the need for Child Welfare help. It is supplying school lunches, decent, warm and comfortable clothing, books, milk, often fast for the home that children may be kept together as a family unit. Pinch hitting for Santa Claus, when it is apparent that he cannot find his way to an underprivileged home. Helping in every way possible to maintain, or if possible and necessary, to restore confidence and a feeling of security and being wanted in the minds of children, and to contribute to their physical needs by supplying medicine, hospitalization and surgery where it is found that it is necessary but cannot be had without help. This is Child Welfare, the entire program of which is dependent on the sale of the poppies.

Next May, volunteer to help sell poppies on Poppy Day. Your time is little to give, for those who gave so much, and those who need so much!

Many Posts Now Have "Homes"

The American Legion has experienced the greatest building boom in all its history during the past several years as thousands of Posts realized ambitions of acquiring their own homes.

For many of the Posts it meant nothing less—at long last—on years of planning, saving and working.

Today approximately one-half of the more than 17,000 Posts of the Legion have their own clubhouses. More than 50 Virginia Posts own homes with a valuation of over $1,250,000 and more Post homes are being built each year.

Some of the Post homes are mammoth establishments with all the facilities of country clubs. The present structure occupied by American Legion Post 113 was started in 1940. The north wing of the building was partially completed that year and put in use by the Post. The construction of this portion of the building was under the supervision of William G. Holland and Joseph J. Kender, both members of the Post. The completed structure is a new stande was erected by J. Kender, a member of Post 113 and was dedicated on February 22, 1950.

Many persons who have had the opportunity to visit Legion clubhouses throughout this state and in many other states agree that the clubhouse of Post 113 is one of the finest to be found anywhere.

The thousands of Legion clubhouses are open to all Legionnaires who carry current membership cards.

Some 70 million pounds of sugar are used each year in tobacco products, chiefly in cigar manufacture.

To promote peace and good will on earth

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

None desire peace more than those who have experienced War. Veterans of World Wars I and II joined in The American Legion are committed definitely to the support of a course that will permit our Nation to dwell in an honorably peaceful state.

WAR has come twice to us within the span of our generation. We should individually and as a group encourage every honest effort to promote international good will. Unfairness, greed, hate, and envy are makers of armed strife, so part of our job is to combat those influences in national and international relations. One of the greatest forces for international peace is tolerant international understanding.

The Legion's peace efforts will always be built on a strong national defense program in all naval, military, and aviation departments. We have always supported laws empowering our national government to mobilize all necessary phases of industry in case of war. This must take the profit out of war and thereby promote peace.

Time and energy intelligently spent promoting peace and good will on earth will never be wasted.

To consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

A never-failing interest in comradeship is found wherever there is an American Legion Post. From the day in 1919 that we first found our World War I war-disabled suffering for lack of hospital care—to the present when we must again exert all our energies in behalf of the disabled of World War II—it commands respect by its exemplification of the spirit of helpfulness.

We know devotedly together for a worthy cause naturally draws people closely together. We started this comradeship in 1917, recognized it in 1941, and thanks to the organization of our American Legion the good work is still going on. We are not merely carrying on in a routine manner but are serving in an ever widening and deepened sphere of influence.

Aid for sick and disabled veterans, help for widows and children of our builders who have answered the last common, child, welfare in all its phases, employment for veterans.

Sons of the Legion, boys' state, Junior baseball, American Legion program to further education, legislative program for betterment of community, state, and national laws, disaster relief—these are some of the many worthwhile activities the Legion has always carried on—whether our beloved country is at war or at peace. The degree of your participation in these services is a good measure of your devotion to mutual helpfulness. Let's all volunteer our services with enthusiasm and serve faithfully.

Cold Ladies Corps Does Meritorious Work

An outstanding activity of the American Legion Auxiliary is the Cold Ladies Corps, of which Unit 113 had one member.

These ladies took an intensive course of training and an examination, after which they received their caps and certificates.

They were then classified as volunteer hospital workers. They have to pledge at least 100 hours a year of actual time in the hospital for a period of three years. They are each given an identification card. At the end of three years' service, each receives a gold pin.

They go into the veterans' hospitals for service, and their activities are directed by the Chief of Special Services.

They put on bingo parties, amateur shows composed of veterans in the hospitals, write letters, do shopping for the men, or read to them. They promote card parties and outdoor parties—always with prizes and refreshments which are furnished by the different units.

At Christmas each man in the hospital is given a gift package by the Cold Ladies. The Cold Ladies also sponsor a Christmas gift shop in each of the three veterans' hospitals in Virginia. The gifts for these shops are furnished by the Auxiliary members throughout the State. Each man in a hospital is allowed to select gifts for his loved ones, free of charge. These gifts are prettily wrapped by the Cold Ladies and mailed. The Auxiliary members help in the gift wrapping.

The "Eight and Forty" of the Auxiliary is a group made up of members who have belonged to the Auxiliary for at least three years, have served as officers and chairmen in different capacities, and have done some outstanding work for the Auxiliary. Their motto motto is "Service, Fellowship and Fun." Their chief program is care of tubercular children and children who may have been exposed to tuberculosis, also to help the Auxiliary in any way they can. Since its members are all Auxiliary members, their Auxiliary dues have to be paid before their "Eight and Forty" dues will be accepted.

Americanism Receives Stress

The American Legion has carried out a constant Americanism program since the founding of the organization in 1919 in an effort to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism, as set forth in the Legion Preamble.

The Americanism program of the Legion can be broken down into four main groups of activities. They are:

1. Protective Activities—A militant and aggressive opposition to all subversive and Un-American influences and activities.
2. Educational Activities—A program to educate all in America, young and old, to appreciate fully the blessings of our free American way of life.
3. Youth Training Activities—A program to inculcate American ideals and principles into the youth of America as a basis for future good citizenship.
4. Community Service Activities—A program to make every community in America a better neighborhood, as a stepping stone toward making all the world a good neighborhood.

The Legion has been fighting subversive influences since its birth in 1919. It fought Communism in the days when no one else was concerned over the inroads of the red philosophy in America.

The Legion was largely responsible for the creation of the House Committee on Un-American Activities whose exposure of red infiltration and treasonable conspiracies finally shocked the nation into a realization of the Communist peril in America.

The resolution creating this committee grew out of a mandate of the 19th national convention in

Legion Pledged To Democracy

The Americanism work of the Auxiliary includes all activities tending to perpetuate American ideals and to uphold the principles of American Democracy. We have presented to our members articles and book reviews which explained the threat of Communism to our nation and how we can help to combat it. Each year we have an Americanism program with a guest speaker who gives a talk on some phase of Americanism. Last year we were honored with a talk by Col. Arthur W. Smith, commanding officer at Fort Story.

The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored the collection of money for the Heart Fund last year at the Beach.

Our members made dresses and bed jackets for the Tumor Clinic in Norfolk. We have made contributions to the Cancer Fund, Polio Foundation, Tuberculosis Association and purchased Christmas Seals from that association. We have each year contributed to the Joy Fund.

Legion Noted For Good Work In Community

The American Legion cooperates whenever requested in any community affairs and projects.

We have contributed clothing, food, furniture, bedding and household effects for people who have lost their homes through fires.

At various times we have given clinics and parties for children who have few opportunities for recreation.

+ PRINCIPLE NO. 7

To make right the master of might

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

The American Legion is ever conscious of the rights of the minorities. In the two World Wars its members learned first-hand the disastrous effects that fall upon other nations where the rule of might obtains. Within its ranks the Legion ever tends to seek the right solution of every problem it faces.

This is a fine ideal toward which we should strive. The dictators of Europe deny that it will ever be a practical reality as long as human nature is what it is today. History records many examples in which might has conquered right. Right supported by might is the ideal situation. Right and wrong are generally relative aspects of a question. Our interests or feelings sometimes blind us regarding the rights of others. Even in a supposedly neutral body like our National Supreme Court the controversy is more often decided by a five to four vote than it is by unanimous decision.

However, in view of all these considerations the sentiment expressed by this phrase is morally right.

In the words of our immortal Lincoln: "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end fight to do our duty as we understand it."

To combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

Every stratum of American citizenship is represented in The American Legion. It will always be a broad and comprehensive segment of American society, whereas the autocrat has no hope of gaining a foothold.

America, composed as it is of all nationalities, races, creeds, as well as all economic classes, has long been called the great melting pot of civilization. In our efforts to help carry out this great experiment in human evolution we must assure all groups that we stand for reason and fairness in all human activities.

Individual initiative must not be stifled by any revolution of the human masses; neither can we afford to allow powerful overbearing special privilege groups to autocratically exploit the inarticulate masses.

Our Nation is large enough and rich enough so that all can live happily and well. If we permit autocratic control of one part of our people by another group we thereby threaten our democratic principles of liberty, freedom, and justice.

Let us remember that we represent a great cross-section of our national life. Whenever we have the opportunity we must make known our services to the general public, and with us peaceably, reasonably, and with the aim to both combat and prevent.

We must do all in our power to "The American Legion" the best and confidence in the leadership of the common man, the man of opportunity, and freedom for the complete, balanced growth and development of each individual citizen, and to his very best and noblest.

40 and 8 ENJOYING HEALTHY GROWTH

The rapid growth of American Legion Post 113 made the formation of a 40 and 8 a necessity and the local group was formed in 1950 with Louis Williams being elected the first Chief de Cade. Plans had been formulated at the department convention in Alexandria that year. It is Volume 1410 of the 40 and 8. Originally there were fifteen charter members of the Volume. They were, in addition to Williams, Frank Taylor, Howard S. Myers, W. B. Allen, Vernon Parker, Murray Malbon, Dave Watts, E. L. Roberts, Wesley Payne, Cecil Murden, Eddie Ames, Mel Good, I. B. Walker, Frank Malbon and E. W. Smith.

During the second year of the organization Dave Watts succeeded Williams and dinner meetings were held on the first Monday of each month at the American Legion clubhouse. The membership continued to grow.

Howard S. Myers, Virginia Beach postmaster and a former commander of the local Legion post, has been elected Chief de Cade for the year 1953. The executive committee consists of

MYERS HONORED

Capt. Howard S. Myers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Myers of Virginia Beach, who is aircraft commander in the U. S. Air Force, recently was honored along with his crew as "Crew of the Month" at his base in Ohio. Captain Myers is a "chip off the old block" in that his father, Virginia Beach's postmaster, a former commander of American Legion Post 113, was an outstanding naval aviator during World War I. Captain Myers leaves this week for duty in the Far East.

Louis Williams, Dave Watts, Fred Higerson and Myers.

The name 40 and 8 is an outgrowth of World War I when troops were transported to France in railroad cars with a carrying capacity of 40 men or eight horses, hence the name 40 and 8. In its constitution and by-laws the 40 and 8 is explained in the following manner. La Societe des Quarante Hommes et Huit Chevaux is a civilian organization without rank or distinction between its members, and is non-political. The objects of the organization are:

(1) To support, maintain and defend The American Legion and its principles, programs and mandates; and to inculcate harmony, good will and cooperation among its posts and members.

(2) To honor, through membership, those members of The American Legion who have proved themselves worthy of such honor.

(3) To provide a playground feature within The American Legion to the end that there shall be no reason or excuse for any meeting of the Legion to be other than dignified and impressive.

(4) Through fraternalism to bind ourselves in even closer ties than are afforded by our common membership in The American Legion.

Education Week Has Legion Origin

The American Legion originated the annual observance of American Education Week in 1921 in order to focus one year public attention on the problems, needs and accomplishments of American schools.

The Legion was motivated in doing this by its realization of the importance of the schools in building good American citizenship and the need for better public understanding and appreciation of this importance if adequate appropriations were to be obtained.

The National Education Association was the first to become co-sponsor with The American Legion of the annual observance of the week. Today, two other groups are co-sponsors. They are the U. S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Annually, The American Legion and the NEA select the theme for American Education Week. Theme for this year's observance during the week of November 9-15, 1952, is "Children in Today's World."

YOU CAN'T WIN
... by Yourself!

There's still a lot of fighting to be done. There are things that need to be stopped, things that need to be changed, things that need to be avoided. You KNOW it.

But are you going to try to lick the world by yourself? Of course not. Not after what YOU'VE learned about TEAMWORK. You know America's problems can be licked with teamwork.

That's why ten thousand ex-service men and women from World War II are joining The American Legion every day. That's why we know you'll want to be a Legionnaire.

What are the sorts of things local posts do?

They provide equipment for hospitals... they distribute food and funds to the needy... they provide counselling service for veterans and their families. They do these things and many more in every line of civic improvement.

The Legion program is an eminently worthwhile course of action. Step in at your local post and see what's going on. They'll have the membership blank YOU'LL WANT TO FILL OUT. There's nothing like being a member of a winning team... a team making history every day.

Rehabilitation of Veterans One More Important Legion Task

Rehabilitation of Legionnaires means a program to make disabled veterans fit again to earn their livelihoods.

It has always been a primary concern of The American Legion. All major federal and state legislation dealing with veterans' affairs is in effect today because it was either conceived by the Legion or its enactment was supported by it.

A Veterans Administration exists today because the Legion convinced the government that such a one-stop agency was necessary to administer veterans' benefits. In fact, the VA is often referred to as The American Legion's greatest rehabilitation monument.

The national network of approximately 147 government hospitals and 18 domiciliary homes, providing medical and surgical care for veterans, is the result of an unceasing fight carried on for more than 32 years by The American Legion so that disabled and sick veterans might have the finest care possible.

The Legion has a medical advisory board to provide expert counsel and advice for its National Rehabilitation Commission on professional matters in the fields of medicine, surgery and other treatments. The board is composed of noted surgeons, physicians and specialists.

An insurance advisory board, also maintained by the Legion, regularly confers with the National Rehabilitation Commission on all matters involving government life insurance carried by veterans. The board is composed of noted insurance executives, authorities and actuaries.

The American Legion maintains a huge organization of trained service officers throughout the nation to help veterans with their rehabilitation and readjustment problems. These are the men who provide free and expert assistance in helping veterans file claims or get hospitalization. Backing up the local service officers are specialists in medicine, law, claims procedure and insurance on the Legion's national rehabilitation staff in Washington, D. C.

The organization has an estimated 2,000 full time, paid service officers on the job. Their efforts are supplemented by some 25,000 volunteer service officers on the post level. These are the men who have made rehabilitation work their hobby and who themselves are specialists in all rehabilitation matters. Thus, expert help for a veteran in need is only as far away as his nearest American Legion Post.

In Virginia, the Legion has a staff composed of a Department

Service Officer and 25 Assistant Department Service Officers located throughout the State. Each is also an accredited representative of the State Division of War Veterans' Claims.

The staff is supplemented by a service officer in each of the approximately 200 Legion Posts in Virginia.

American Legion volunteer workers are constantly on duty at the various veterans hospitals. Last year, at McGuire's VA Hospital, a Richmond house member of the local Legion hospital committee put in over 6,000 hours of volunteer work. The figure does not include the work of the Guild Ladies of the Legion Auxiliary who put in approximately twice as many hours.

Thousands of dollars are spent each year by the Virginia American Legion in providing "crecare

COUNCIL TO 'GET TOUGH' ON LAGGERS

To Collect Water Bills

Water bills that remain unpaid 30 days after the bill is mailed will result in a discontinuance of service as a result of action taken by the Virginia Beach City Council at its two-hour open session last Monday night.

Previously a proposal was made to limit the time to ten days, but apparently the council felt this length of time drastic and voted to make the payment period 30 days. A service charge of $2.50 for cut-off and a similar charge for re-installment of service will be levied.

Another major development of the meeting was a discussion to set up a permanent City Planning Commission. According to Mayor P. P. Murray, the Council hopes to set up a commission for long-range planning. He said councilmen hope to consult with Dr. Raymond Long, of the State Planning and Economic Commission in the future.

In other actions the Council made several appropriations. The Council appropriated $125,000 for the Beach Erosion Commission. The commission was reported to have some $47,700 on hand. The additional funds are needed to continue the erosion control project.

It was noted that the city is issuing short term notes to finance the sand replenishment program and it is expected the notes will be retired when a bond issue can be floated.

The Council appropriated $5000 additional funds for the Board of Ancestors, now at work amending city property and equalizing where necessary, preparatory to increasing assessed values required for the proposed bond issue.

A $15000 appropriation was made for all use, in addition to the $800 included in the city budget. A Fire Department request for $2,500 for a new motor for one of its trucks was tabled pending study by a special committee. Fire Chief E. B. Bayne told councilmen that unless proper motor equipment is used, taxpayers would be penalized with an increase in insurance rates. The committee is to report back by Saturday.

'Antic Spring' to Be Presented

A comedy, "Antic Spring," will be presented in the auditorium of W. T. Cooke school December 13, at 8 p. m., by the Youth Fellowship of Galilee Episcopal Church. Tickets are priced at $1 and all proceeds will go to the building fund of the Boys Home in Covington, Va. The public is cordially invited.

Included in the cast are Kitty Terrell, Mary Page Hilliard, Frances Kenna, Phil Purington, Donald Harley and Ernie Posey. The fun begins when a group of six young people start off on a picnic, and ends in a mixture of anti, mustard and ticks.

The play, under the direction of Mrs. Hondras, promises a night of enjoyable entertainment for all.

PERPETUAL MARKERS TO BE PLACED ON ATLANTIC AVE.

When the Council of Garden Clubs met last Thursday with H. J. All other contributors will be placed in permanent records and listed in Princess Anne County Court House. The total cost of planting one block is $500. To date, the Council of Garden Clubs, the Rotary Club and the Virginia Beach Garden Clubs have made such contributions.

In an interview with Mr. Neale, he said the State's plan for planting was merely a pattern and was in no way binding, as they felt that the Garden Club Coun-

The show will depart from the conventional in that, admission will be by the gift of a can of food or a new toy rather than money.

New Zeal Sparks Team

Virginia Beach High School's spirited Seahawks broke loose on a scoring spree in the second half last Thursday night and soundly trounced the Norfolk Academy eleven, 26 to 6, to become champions of the first annual Beach Bowl football game.

The game was scoreless through the first two stanzas, but the never-say-die spirit of the Seahawks came to life in the second half when all of the game's points were scored. The first half indicated another scoreless battle as the two teams had waged early in the season.

It was as though the halftime ceremonies which found Mayor P. P. Murray, of Virginia Beach, crowning charming Miss Nancy Waterfield the "Beach Bowl Queen" lit the spark that drove the Seahawks to victory.

Repeatedly repulsed by stout Norfolk Academy defense and costly fumbles during the first half when pay dirt was in sight, the Virginia Beach lads were not to be denied when the second half got underway.

In all the Seahawks crossed the enemy goal line five times, but one crossing was nullified by a penalty. The victors managed to make good on two extra point tries. The scoring was divided among four Seahawks.

Long ground gains featured the devastating second half attack of the Seahawks. Kermit Seaborough scored two of the Seals, Jim Meadows and Bobby Jo Gardner, one each, and Gardner and Quarterback Charles Purington (Continued on page 6)

Rose Bowl Team To be Chosen

Football fans across the nation will have an opportunity to appraise late season West Coast football class Saturday, November 22, when the General Motors sponsored RVV Football Game of the Week brings together two outstanding Rose Bowl aspirants in a clash which will go a long way toward determining the cast for the New Year's Day classic.

Both undefeated to date, the University of Southern California Trojans and University of California, Los Angeles, Bruins will be before the cameras, with comparable records. In seven games this season, USC has averaged 26 points to its opponent's 3.7; UCLA has run up 26 to its rival's 5 in eight contests.

Mc Allen and Russ Hodges will be at the play-by-play microphones with Bill Henry providing color and Nelson Case doing commercials. The game, which will be carried over the all NBC national network, will begin at 4:45 p. m., EST. (Continued on page 5)

Mrs. Nancy Strickler, first vice-president of the club, presided over the meeting and gave the invocation.

New Cruise Is Being Planned

Complete arrangements for land excursions at the West Indian island of Haiti, first stop on the annual Virginia Cruise to the Caribbean and South America, were announced today by the Virginia Cruise Corporation, sponsor of the 14-day cruise.

The cruises, sponsored by civic groups on a non-profit basis, are designed to stimulate an interest in ocean travel through the Virginia ports. This year's cruise will sail from Norfolk January 7, returning January 21.

Plans announced today include a 31-2 hour day-time excursion, and a 51-2 hour night-time tour. High spot of the daylight activities will be a visit to a native village to see at first-hand the mode of living that typifies the greater regions of Haiti.

Following the visit to the native village, the tour will return to Port au Prince, Haiti's principal port, for stops at the medical school, museums, principal government buildings, the presidential palace, and a famous old cathedral.

Shoppers will have an opportunity to visit the colorful iron market where natives sell mahogany (Continued on page six)

KEMPSVILLE HAS NEW LEASE ON TURKEY BOWL TROPHY

The Turkey Bowl championship trophy will remain in possession of Kempsville High School for at least another year after the Blue Devils convincingly defeated the Oceana Cavaliers, 31 to 18, last Friday night in the annual gridiron clash.

Victory in the Turkey Bowl has previously been considered the Princess Anne County football championship, but Virginia Beach Seahawks will dispute the claim since they shipped Norfolk Academy last week in the first annual Beach Bowl.

The Blue Devils' triumph against Oceana was Joe Dehulis' career high with three touchdowns in his credit. He was the first to hit the line under the so-called "Warrior" system.

From where I sit... by Joe Mural

Going... Going... Almost Gone

Granny Robinson put on quite a show the other night at the annual White Elephant auction held at the Women's Club.

Towards the end of the evening, she had the ladies bidding for anything she put up. "What am I bid for this woman's lovely black coat here—good as new? Who'll say ten dollars?" she asked.

Granny held the coat up, and commenced describing the coat's lining, sleeves, buttons—really "selling hard." Then, suddenly, she took a close look and shouted out "Land takes, no more bidding."

From where I sit, what almost happened to Granny was good for a laugh, but sometimes when people "get carried away" with their own talk it's not so funny. I guess a glass of temperate beer while listening to my favorite radio program—you may like only paper or cider. I suggest we hold on to our personal opinions—and believe in them—but take a good close look at them before we try to "sell" them to our neighbor!

"HAIL THE SEAHAWKS!"

The magnificent victory of the Virginia Beach High School Seahawks in the first annual Beach Bowl football game a week ago was more than just another grid contest, and a win added to the record. It was a great achievement by a group of young high school lads and their football coach. It was the glorious climax to a football season of work, work and more work for the coach and his charges.

The fact that the Virginia Beach eleven defeated Norfolk Academy by a score of 26 to 0 was sweet music to the coach, the team, the students and the faculty of the school, but what made it even sweeter was the fact that the two teams had played to a scoreless tie early in the season. It was a clear indication of the progress that had been made, a tribute to the coach, Fred Isaacs, and to the youngsters who have been working so hard all season to give Virginia Beach High School an outstanding football team in its first season.

Not enough can be said of the spirit of the new school and those who represent it on the football field. The Sun-News is proud to salute Coach Isaacs and the team and to congratulate everyone connected with the school.

THE JOYOUS CALL

A very worthy project in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County that probably brings more brief happiness to more people each year than any other cause, has again set itself to work. It is the annual Christmas Joy Fund which annually makes the Yuletide season bright for those of our neighbors who are less fortunate than ourselves.

There is only one season of the year — Christmas — that the fund is active, and its work and success is measured in terms of happiness to as many families and youngsters as the generosity of our citizens will allow. A gift to the Joy Fund, either in money or clothing or toys, will find its way to the home or homes where it will do the most good and where it is most needed.

The Joy Fund always finds ready acceptance as the day of Christmas nears, but there is much work to be done by the volunteers who operate the fund, and no greater need exists than that for early help in funds and toys so that the gifts may be ready for delivery on Christmas morning.

To those who must get the "Christmas spirit" before remembering the Joy Fund, this message is dedicated. Don't wait until the last minute. Money may be deposited with either of the local newspapers and clothing can be deposited at the Welfare Bank of the Junior Woman's Club at the Community House in Virginia Beach and at the Department of Welfare at Princess Anne.

Used, discarded toys are always welcome and the firemen will call for these items. Toys are particularly needed early so that they may be repaired. Don't delay — make YOUR contribution to the Joy Fund NOW!

DALE CARNEGIE

ADDITIONAL HOW TO LIVE WORKING AND START LIVING

About three years ago Carl Goodwin, Bay Village, Ohio, began to think he was through. Long hours of work on a technical project and poor working habits had carried him to the very limit of his physical and nervous endurance. His weight dropped to 135 pounds. He had frequent sick colics and was constantly plagued with nervous headaches. Worst of all, however, was the overpowering fatigue which made even the slightest task an effort. He was doing a half day's work. He knew it and the boss knew it. And it worried him.

The matter came to a climax when his doctor advised him to take a leave of absence. This he did but the time off only served as another source of worry. He knew that the "powers" would take advantage of the

It is a heartening sign in the campaign so far to see General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson refuse to let the voters be misled by the use of the word "peace" to yield to the demands of pressure groups. For if he refused to follow to excessive demands for the bargaining power of the peace groups will become known. It really is a fiction that it is only human nature that the pressure group should claim to be the voice of the people. It is only human nature that the pressure group should claim to be the voice of the people. It is only human nature that the pressure group should claim to be the voice of the people.

THE PETTY PACE

"I'm done for. Go away and let me die."

Thus speaks the martyred character in many a novel, and the doctor and others attending the sick or injured one usually bow their heads and dutifully step back a few feet from the death couch to admire the way he gave his last. They seem wistful over his lot.

The doctor makes a sober ritual of folding his stethoscope and sheathing his thermometer and putting them slowly back into his black satchel. A sad tableau but one gravely enjoyed by all present. (The chapter ends.)

It may run many a plot, but I think a few of these martyrs could be saved if only the sedate bystanders weren't so willing to take them at their own last words and would lift a hand to tie up a severed artery or administer a wonder drug or two. They seem unwilling to deprive the victim of his brave role. He should leap up and horsewhip them.

Look how they try to snatch the villain from the jaws of death, so they can hang him. Let him dare open his mouth and heroically state that he is dying. "Liar!" the doctor will be saying.

With the Girl Scouts

A seven weeks' basic leadership training course for adults has been completed today. Miss Jean Baldwin, Girl Scout district director of Princess Anne County, was the instructor for this class which began October 3 and was held at the Ocean Park firehouse. This course has trained 12 women to become qualified Scout leaders in this community. Those attending were Mrs. Virginia Vest, Mrs. Elizabeth Faison, Mrs. Catherine Girard, Mrs. Betty Tate, Mrs. Marguerite Auer, Mrs. Evelyn Caldwell, Mrs. Paul Sawyer, Mrs. M. L. Dean, Mrs. Richard Hines, Mrs. J. W. Coleman, Mrs. Luther Ball, Mrs. G. J. Horn, Mrs. J. D. Durham, Mrs. J. E. Fridley, Mrs. Robert Keeney, Mrs. Ora Mae Kline, Mrs. J. E. Lee, Mrs. W. M. Ray, Mrs. E. E. Fitzgerald, Mrs. W. G. Weber, Mrs. R. E. Reddy.

These women represented Chesapeake Beach, Ocean Park, Princess Anne Court House, and Virginia Beach. They will join the 100 other women in Princess Anne County who are doing volunteer work in Girl Scouting.

Troop 200 and guests, with their leader and assistant leader, Mrs. Glenn Dill and Mrs. A. L. Hogard, enjoyed their first roller skating outing Saturday afternoon, November 8, at the Port Story rink.

'Merry Christmas' Or 'Gladig Jul'

Merry Christmas!

The spirit conveyed by these words is the same in all countries, but the words themselves sometimes fall harshly on American ears.

"Merry Christmas" in French has a musical sound. It is "Joyeux Noel."

In Spain the greeting is "Feliz Pascua," and in Italy "Buon Natale." For Sweden it is "God Jul" and in Norway "Gladig Jul."

In Germany and Holland the greeting is a tongue-twister that will stump the average American. The Germans say "Froeliche Weihnachten" and the Dutch "Piet-sieris Kerstfeest."

But whatever the language, the spirit behind this greeting is the same wherever there are men of good will.

What makes the bloody martyr so sure he's dying? I think that he wants to be assured that he isn't, not sacrificed as a courageous example. I know persons who've been helping for years they're dying, but won't submit to playing in any scene in which the doctor's merely making the sheet over their morose visage.

End of Hostilities A SHORT STORY

They indicated they had been coming over for some time. When Jake greeted them from the doorway, he said: "You have a degree and a diploma, don't you? I suppose the world has just better look out."

"I've got a job," he told her. "I'm going into business for myself. I'm going to open an apartment office in London."

London was the name town where they both had been raised.

"Oh, yes?" He eyes grew round. "You've decided to leave?"

"I've decided to leave," he said. "There must have been five new houses built in London during the last year."

"There's going to be a development at Lake Hayden. The new road's coming through. There will be big money to be made."

Much to Maxine's outward annoyance, and secret joy, Jake was right. The plot road did come through. A land development company began selling lots. By the time Maxine graduated from school, she had not only done splendidly in his profession as an architect, but owned a half interest in a development company of his own.

"Poor's luck!" Maxine declared. "You fell into something."

"You fell into something," he said. "I'm a developer."

"And landed right side up. By the way, are you going to the country club dance tonight?"

"I am," said Maxine. "With Carl Ledbetter."

"And who might Carl Ledbetter be?"

"Oh, a boy I met my senior year. He was quite vague."

"The sucker!" said Jake, and walked away.

Carl Ledbetter was staying at the inn. He stayed there two weeks, and gave no indication of leaving. He spent money like water, and it was quite evident that his reason for staying was Maxine.

"When," asked Jake, "are you going to wake up? That guy's a punk. If he's rich, he'll grow under his feet while he waits for the big opportunity. Besides, he's younger than you are."

The summer passed. A family named Mason moved into one of the newly constructed camps on Lake Hayden. There was a daughter named Maxine. She had blond hair and eyes and a bewitching smile. Jake asked her to go to a dance with him. After that he asked her to go to a lot of places.

A Fall came. The Masons moved back to Philadelphia. Carl Ledbetter stayed on at the inn. He said vaguely he was interested in making investments nearby.

One crisp October night Jake was returning to town from the lake. There was an automobile parked beside the road, a long, racy coupe that looked familiar. Unconsciously Jake slowed down. As he passed the coupe he heard a scream. He pulled up short, got out and ran back. The door of the coupe opened and Carl Ledbetter stepped out.

"Everything's all right, Farnsworth. Run along."

"Jake!" screamed Maxine from inside the coupe. She got out the other door and ran around to him. "Please take me home with you."

Jake looked at her and looked at Ledbetter. "All right," he said. "Run up and get into my car. I'll be right along."

When he turned to his own

Maxine's mouth fell open. "Jake Farnsworth!"

"Oh, don't protest. I questioned Ledbetter and figured out the answers from what he told me. He passed. 'I suppose I'm pretty to them. I played second with him for the same reason.' Again he passed. When he spoke there was a final note in his voice. 'Well, it's got to stop. One way to stop it is for us to get married. The other is for one of us to be killed. I don't know. That'll have to be it. I'll be glad to go. What's your answer?'"

Maxine stared. "Jake Farnsworth, if you — I never — of all the conceits —" Jake stepped on the ignition switch with a gesture of exasperation. Maxine gasped helplessly, resignedly. "Well, all right then. You win. Let's get married."

Jake's hand left the ignition switch. He grinned. "That was sure a close call. Why didn't I think of it before? Darling, come here!"

ARTHUR WARE CREDITED WITH STORY DEFENSES

Arthur P. Ware had turned the attention to the future as he did to the past at Cape Henry, the Nomads might well have been out of business by now. As it is, the great dunes like mushroom up around the buildings at Fort Story and act as silent sentinels to the sea. The dunes are looked in place forever by his ingenuity and planning. Mr. Ware came to Fort Story in 1915, when global warfare was still unheard of, though the security of the country was being threatened to some degree by the war in Europe. Harbor defense installations were to be constructed on the beaches along the Atlantic so that Army and Navy reservations in the area and civilian industry and shipping along the coast would be protected. These defensive measures would support similar gun emplacements at Forts Wool and Monroe. The original batteries on the Cape were strengthened during the early 1920's, still under the supervision of Mr. Ware. Then they no longer received their former emphasis as construction slackened. Soon after this a knotty problem arose for Mr. Ware and his crew of maintenance men. The great natural concealment afforded by the region, the heaping hills of sand, began to drift as the winds changed from their usual direction. The gun batteries and the installations that had been built were threatened with burial as their foundations became more unstable. Sand drifted everywhere and crept into the smallest recesses of the large guns.

Mr. Ware evolved a method for stopping the drifts of sand and anchoring the dunes in place. With the help of some 500 men provided for the work by the CWA, the CCC and the Army, he set about covering the barren fields of sand with vegetation. The area was broken down into plots of 100x200 feet and brush fences were built around each unit. Within the rectangles the land surface was covered with pine needles that acted to retain the moisture. Pine and black locust seedlings were planted within the plots and each took root, protected from the wind by the brush fences. Six to ten thousand seedlings were put into the ground daily and a germination rate of 80 per cent was attained, even under adverse conditions. All costs were kept to a minimum.

The success of Mr. Ware's method at Fort Story was evident in 1940 when the great fleetboard defense campaign was launched. Cape Henry again became the site of harbor fortifications, on a much larger scale than before. The sandy hills and beaches bristled with large gun emplacements protecting the shipping routes off shore and the channels leading to inland waters. Mr. Ware was placed in charge of the maintenance of the setup.

The Army Service Forces of the War Department eventually recognized the work Arthur Ware had done by citing him "For meritorious performance of duty as a civilian." Many of the mili-

Beach Hi P-TA Sponsoring Sales Contest

A magazine campaign sponsored jointly by the Virginia Beach High School and the PTA will begin Wednesday, November 19 and run through November 27. The goal for the campaign is set at $3,000.

The purpose of the campaign is to raise money for the purchase of library books and magazine subscriptions for the library, basic band instruments so that a band can be started for the school, and for two much-needed plants.

Jack Hall, manager of the Crowell Collier Publishing Company, and E. N. Duberry, manager of the Curtis Circulation Company, will meet with representatives of the school and PTA to launch the campaign.

Numerous awards will be made to the individual "student salesmen" and to the home rooms selling the largest number of subscriptions. James A. Johnson, principal of the high school, and Mrs. R. W. Digs, president of the PTA, urge the cooperation of the entire community to assure the success of this campaign.

scored an extra point each. If any individuals could be singled out in the Seahawk victory it would be Meades, Scarborough and Gardner, but on the whole it was a team victory and one that demonstrated the importance of teamwork. The coach, Fred Jones, in bringing the seahawks along this season.

Prior to the game a gala parade down Atlantic Avenue and on to the Oceanic Stadium was held with colorful floats and music giving spectators a bird's-eye view of the interest and importance created by the bowl game. The contest was sponsored by the Virginia Beach Rotary Club and proceeds will be turned over to the Virginia Beach High School Athletic Association. It is expected that the local civic club will sponsor the game each year.

At the conclusion of the game, Virginia Beach City Manager Philip W. Ansell presented the Beach Bowl trophy to the captain of the victorious Virginia Beach team.

Mr. Ware, who lives at 303 86th street, Virginia Beach, is now at Fort Story as chief civilian engineer for the Post. He continues the long family tradition begun by his grandfather in 1863 at Fort Monroe and continued by his father of working with the Army in the Norfolk district and giving faithful and highly professional service always.

Miss Savage Explains Winter Season Policy

A number of people seem to be confused about the proposed indoor winter season of professional stock which the Theatre-Go-Round is planning to run this year. Here is the whole story—Lesley Savage, the producer, believes there are enough people in Virginia Beach and nearby vicinities interested in having one of the few professional winter stock companies in the country to warrant a season of plays.

In order to have the plays indoors this winter, we have secured the big building on the hill at 67th and Atlantic. This building also houses the 4th Art Club, now open Tuesday through Saturday at 9 p. m. and Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. The club has a cozy, intimate atmosphere complete with fireplace, music, candlelight and a warm welcome from your Theatre-Go-Round staff.

To have some kind of guarantee as to the success of this venture before sending for our first cast, we must sell 400 season tickets by the first week of December.

As we can seat only 100 people per night, the plays will run two weeks instead of one. Tuesday through Sunday, at 8:30 p. m. The season tickets are $10. This price includes admission to all plays plus entrance to the 4th Art Club at any time. On the plays alone there is a saving of $2.50 per person.

The proposed list of plays is: "Design for Living" by Noel Coward, "Mr. Pim Passes By" by A. A. Milne, "A Phoenix Too Frequent" by Christopher Fry, and on the same bill "The Last of My Solid Old Walrus" by Tennessee Williams, "Friday" by George S. Kaufman, the psychological thriller - drama, "The Man" and "The Happiest Years."

We hope you will give us your vote of confidence by calling 2730 and ordering your season tickets, or writing Theatre-Go-Round, Virginia Beach.

Night-time activities will feature a visit to the "Cabane Chinoise," one of the few night clubs in Haiti, where a group of native folklore and voodoo dances will be presented in addition to the regular dance music. After the show the cruise party will move to the National Casino for outdoor dancing.

Corn will return passengers to the ship not later than 2 a. m., rounding out a full day and evening of sightseeing.

JOURNALISM CLASS ATTENDS TIDEWATER PRESS CONFERENCE

Members of the Kempsville Journalism class attended the second conference of the Tidewater Press Association at Newport News High School, Wednesday, November 12.

The group attended the opening session from 10 to 11 at the Coca Cola building auditorium and heard a talk by Robert B. Smith, assistant to the president, Daily Press, Inc., entitled "Opportunities Open to the Student Journalist." From 11 to 12, sectional meetings were held in the high school. The topics included "Money-making Ideas," "Lively Sports Copy," "Cartoons for Increase of Reader Interest," "Art in Your Yearbook," "Yearbook Themes." In addition to these, several movies were shown.

Luncheon was served from 12 to 1. Then the group separated to attend meetings concerning "The Dummy and Preparation of Material," "Staff Relations Clinic," "Advertising in the School Paper," "Sports Writers Exchange," and "Editorials That Will Be Read." From 2 to 3, the last meetings were "Organize a Radio Show," "Better Yearbook Photography and Engraving," "Improving Ads in Your Yearbook," "Headlines That Make Sense," and "Where is a Feature."

Attending were: Carolyn Norfleet, Betty Hester, Shirley Humphries, Anne Hewlin, Bo Bo Dilligore, Florence Jackson, Barbara Whitehead, Jo Anne Thompson, Merritt Stokes, Patricia Saunders, Dawn Hary, Bill Johns, Donna Leigh Dorey, Carolyn Everett, Carol Strahan, and Mrs. Mary Barnes, Journalism teacher at Kempsville.

STUDENTS DEFEND DEMOCRACY

The Public Speaking class of Kempsville High School for the past several weeks has been preparing speeches for the coming "I Speak for Democracy" contest, to be held November 21. Judges as yet are unannounced.

This is an annual contest in which most of the schools in the nation participate. The prizes which are offered as an impetus to competition are many and varied. They include Defense Bonds ranging in denomination from $10 to $100. Radio, television sets, scholarships and trips to Washington and other national shrines are included in the list. These contests are usually sponsored by one or more civic clubs in the communities in which they are held. The speeches are under the direction of E. W. Burnhill, speech and dramatic instructor for Kempsville High School.

Students engaged in these activities are Buddy Blevins, Marvie Boggs, Katherine Hutchison, Sandra Barton, Alma Ken, Judy Rowlett, Nancy Hester, Frank Beinhart, Ira Mercer, Marvie Conway, and Nancy French.

PARENTS ATTEND CLASSES AT KEMPSVILLE SCHOOL

Parents of the Kempsville PTA went through the same class routines their children observe, in their November meeting at the PTA observed National Education Week.

Bessie Humphries, president, announced that the home room mothers' study group will meet Wednesday, November 19, at 2 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

It was announced that the Band Club will sponsor a talent show at the school Friday, November 21, at 8 p. m., to raise funds for the school band uniforms.

The Grammar Grade Student Council Association is making curtains for the principal's office for the price of 10c. That is one of the ways of making money for things they would like to buy for the grammar school.

Room count prizes were awarded Mr. Lockhard for high school and Mrs. Barrett for grammar school.

After classes, refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

CATS NOT ANSWER FOR RAT CONTROL

Tabby and Tom don't deserve the reputation they have as rat and mouse catchers. John M. Ames, rodent control specialist at VPI, says cats are considered undesirable as killers of rats and mice, but are by no means efficient. A cat may try an hour or more with one mouse. If it eats the mouse, it may not catch any more for that day.

Rather than depend on cats for rodent control, Ames says to put up a few bait stations and keep them supplied regularly with warfarin.

General Motors Football Telecasters

Act sportscasters Ray Hodges and Maj Allen are busy every Saturday through the season telecasting the football "TV Game of the Week" over NBC's 64 station television network, under the sponsorship of General Motors. Each week one of the stand-out college football games, selected in cooperation with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, will emanate from various sections of the country and will climax with the Army-Navy game from Philadelphia on November 29th. Both veteran baseball and football analysts, Allen handles the play-by-play and Hodges color comments.

OPS Sends New Pricing Charts For Retailers

The Office of Price Stabilization has sent out more than 3,000 Community Pricing Charts to be posted in grocery stores in the Tidewater area.

Ceiling prices on approximately 400 market-basket items will be listed on the posters for quick price comparisons by grocery shoppers. W. P. Bailey, regional OPS director, said grocers will be required to post the charts in places convenient to all customers.

All ceilings on the posters have been figured by OPS, Bailey said, based on costs of the food items to the grocers. Full accounts have been taken of local conditions, he said, but these first charts for the Tidewater area are not expected to reflect any general price changes. The posters will be replaced by new ones on December 27.

"OPS has worked out these ceiling prices that are fair both to grocer and consumer public," Bailey said. "Our first purpose in community pricing is to get ceiling prices posted for the grocery shopper and relieve the grocer of the burden of figuring out the ceiling prices."

Christmas Rose Is Decorative

Americans usually decorate their homes at Christmas time with holly, evergreens, or hothouse plants. Recently, however, they have found a new friend in the Christmas rose. Nurserymen say this plant's popularity has skyrocketed in the last few years.

The Christmas rose is not really a rose at all but belongs to the crowfoot family. It is a small plant no more than a foot high when mature. Nevertheless, it can put forth seven or eight small white rose-like blooms tinged with pink.

Called by botanists Helleborus niger or black hellebore, it gets its name from its black stalks. The Christmas rose is no freak, no super-precocious flower or early-blooming plant. This legitimate child of winter flower naturally in December or January. It withstands snow and low temperatures, demanding only some sort of shelter from the weight of snow.

Helleborus niger does not propagate well in the United States. Hence, most of the tiny plants are imported from Belgium and the Netherlands. They develop best only in the western part of those countries where they thrive in soil peculiar to the region.

The ancient Romans knew about the Christmas rose and eagerly sought it for medicinal use. They believed that eating the roots would "clear the brain, cure stupidity and relieve insanity."

"Let him sail to Anticyra," said the poet, Horace, of an ill friend. Anticyra was a Greek town where the black Hellebore flourished.

The Helleborus family is indigenous to southern Europe and the Mediterranean regions. The Christmas rose variety came originally from Anticyra.

The delicate beauty of the Christmas rose is followed by legend.

STRAIGHT From the SHOULDER
 Fashion, That Is!
 By ALICE BREWER WHITE
 Fashion-Week's Editor

(Women's World, 9:30 A.M., Monday through Saturday, and Tuesday and Thursday at 6:45 P.M. over WTAR, feature Mrs. White's chatter about clothes, homemaking, garden and civic events.)

Holiday trimmings and the festive air they spell carry a cheerful reminder to also deck your- self in glamorous holiday finery. From "grand entrance" ballgowns to price-minded teenage party dresses, the rustle and flow of exciting silk will capture fancy and pocketbook.

Christmas evening dresses—short, long, or waist length, have been metamorphosed with a softer look encouraged by the wide use of pure silk chiffon—from black to white—that lends itself to full skirts which whirl as you dance and fall softly when you stand still. There's a dreamlike quality to flowing stoles, most often attached, that can be ingeniously draped to achieve many different effects. Matching silk taffetas underline all the chiffons so there's no "see-through" problems or limp look.

It will truly be a white Christmas party if one can judge by the preponderance of this color in holiday collections. Whether your choice is a moderately priced silk chiffon or luxury satin, color is rampant. Gleaming crystal embroideries on white add shimmering frost to any winter holiday clothes.

Bodices are softly manipulated with draped folds or shirred panels. Jewel embroidery in a combination of pearls, crystals, beads, rhinestone or coral lend a "bright light" touch. High-rising wrapped waistlines show continuing interest in Empire adaptations.

"Mantelita" is the name for the new Christmas dress—a very different fashion gift for Christmas giving.

PETTICOAT LANE

Especially for Homemakers
 Homemakers will notice that gift wrappings become more exciting each year. Matched over including paper, cards, ribbons and tie — on tricks, are now designed by the nation's top artists. Use your imagination and ingenuity to create a package that's original and exciting — one that is the personality of the receiver, and of you, is best and the most fun to "think up."

If you simply can't tie the fancy bows, make tailored wrappings and place on tissue balls or frothy grapes or berries and insert glossy foil under lace — paper doilies. Tri — colored pom-poms of my ribbon give a super-festive look.

Tie on a corsage of beach pine tips or red berries. Dangle gold coins from red ribbons tied to a gilded turkey wishbone for zesty springing.

Betty Homes & Gardens dollar book titled "Christmas Ideas" is bulging with ideas for the Petticoat Lane who just hasn't the time to "think up" cute tricks and novel wrappings.

Man-style Christmas gifts on your list might include: If he's a sportsman, he'll love the new "Dial Your Shot" golf club with head that adjusts to use as a putter or driver. Matched over including paper, cards, ribbons and tie — on tricks, are now designed by the nation's top artists. Use your imagination and ingenuity to create a package that's original and exciting — one that is the personality of the receiver, and of you, is best and the most fun to "think up."

If he's a man about places, try a portable bar case that holds bottles, jigger, shaker, glasses and stainless steel serving shelf or a smart leather game box with all the chips and stuff for fun with the boys.

If he's a man of the Hour, it's waterproof deerskin slippers with foam soles, a desk valet for his office, a collapsible mahogany rack for holding on to his very own togs in the boudoir, a cashmere sweater set, a box of ties — but, please, shop around for the latest fashions in ties, too!

If he's your "Uncle Dudley," then what better than Esquire's latest festive calendar gift?

The American Meat Institute reports the prospects for beef are bright. If producers continue to build up their cattle herds as they have during the first half of this year, America will have the largest supply of beef in history next year.

Grass-fed cattle (beef which is fed entirely on the grass ranges of the West) also is coming to market in increasing quantities. All of this means that there will be a wide variety of beef cuts on the market from which the homemaker may choose — porterhouse steak if the pocketbook permits, chopped beef if her budget calls for economy.

There are always good buys in beef—that is if the wise homemaker is on the lookout for specials—which her meat dealer has to offer.

Many homemakers shy away from using the less-known and thrifter cuts of beef—but if you should, never do it for short ribs, flank steaks or pot roasts. All are excellent cuts to choose. Just remember in cooking these less tender, thrifter cuts of beef, they need moisture and long, slow cooking time.

Flank steak is an economical no-bone meat to buy. It is lean, full of flavor, and can be prepared in a number of interesting ways by varying the seasonings and liquid in which it is cooked.

The basic method for cooking flank steak is by braising (browning in a little hot fat, then cooking slowly in liquid until tender). There are many ways to prepare this tasty meat—and here's one of them:

Stuffed Flank Steak
 1 flank steak
 Salt and pepper
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1-2 cup finely chopped onion
 2 cups soft bread crumbs
 1-4 teaspoon caraway seed
 1-2 teaspoon celery salt
 1-2 cups tomato juice
 Score the steak, sprinkle with

Gov. John S. Battle is still chuckling over the fact that Hedda "Hats" Hopper wrote in her Hollywood column that he could come to Hollywood and become a handsome star after seeing and hearing him in his television appearance during the Chicago Democratic Convention.

William L. Shriver, famed author, commentator and recipient of the George Foster Peabody Award, started out to make his way will feel straight and tall. Now turn, and face the wall. Feet about three inches away from it. Raise the arms high, high above the head. Then "climb up" with the hands as far as you can stretch. Now face about and relax; then arm about and repeat.

Do this routine six times at first, then increase to 12. (You can do this in a ladies' rest room, if you are on a train.) Stiff neck, headaches, that lousy feeling due to sitting too long and eating too much will soon disappear. Do not take this exercise, or any standing exercise if there is a heart condition.

XMAS GAME

Snapdragon was a favorite Christmas game in England more than 500 years ago. It is still played in modified form in England and America.

The original game called for a quantity of raisins to be deposited in a large bowl or dish. Brandy or some other spirit was poured over the fruit and ignited.

The bystanders then endeavored to grasp a raisin by plucking their hands through the flames. A carol, called "The Song of Snapdragon" accompanied the game.

The thighbone is the largest in the body.

Winter Visitors Discover Many Attractions

Winter vacationists in the Old Dominion will find many of Virginia's famous attractions open, though the peak tourist season has passed, according to the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

In a survey of leading tourist attractions in the state, the Chamber found that except for those in mountain areas hampered by snow and ice, all other accommodations in Virginia will remain open.

The Blue Ridge Parkway, after having had 3,774,983 visitors this travel year, will be gated at several sections from the first snow to around April 15. Recreation areas and tourist accommodations are closed there from November 1 to May 1, according to Sam Weems, Parkway superintendent.

Weems said the tourist figure set an all-time record for the Parkway, surpassing last year's figure by 37.4 per cent or 920,098 visitors. The heaviest month was July, when 672,996 visitors went through the Parkway.

Although Shenandoah National Park remains open, Guy D. Edwards, superintendent, told the Chamber most concession stands will close by November 15, and the Park, including Skyline Drive, open except on days when travel is hazardous due to ice or snow.

Among the attractions which will remain open are: Luray Caverns, Endless Caverns, Skyline Caverns, Grand Caverns, Virginia Beach, Nature Bridge, Natural Tunnel and Chasms, Natural Chimneys, George Washington Birthplace National Monument, Petersburg National Military Park, Colonial National Historical Park, Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania National Military Park, Monticello, Mount Vernon, Kenmore, Gunston Hall, the Mariners' Museum, Southwest Virginia Museum, Pocahontas Exhibition Coal Mine, Stratford and Colonial Williamsburg.

Most tourist caterers agree that Florida-bound vacationists are making the tourist business year-round in the Old Dominion. They explained that most vacationists remain in this state a short time, hesitating long enough only to look at historical and scenic attractions along main routes or a short distance away.

Attraction operators agreed that they have found Florida-bound visitors in a hurry going south. On their trip north, they seem in no hurry to get back.

Despite a marked increase in visitors to Virginia Beach, 11 hotel remain open during the winter, the Chamber said. Winter rates are reduced, with room accommodations averaging $3 to $5 and meals ranging from 50 cents for breakfast to $2 for supper.

Leo Hoarty, manager of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, said most tourists remain longer on the northbound trip, lingering to play golf.

At Natural Bridge, the nightly illuminated pageant continues through the winter. Rates remain the same as summer, from $4.50 to $5 for lodging and from 75 cents to $2.50 for meals. Skyline Caverns remain open for the winter, and the gift shop there will, also.

At Wakefield, known as George Washington Birthplace National Monument, an open house will be held February 22, when women in costume will serve hot tea and gingerbread for visitors. The attraction will remain open this winter.

Select Toys to Fit Child's Age Level

A child's Christmas toys should be chosen with as much care as you would buy his clothes - to fit his age level.

If the child is just learning to walk and climb, give him play materials to stimulate these activities. He needs his first picture book when he begins to talk, his alphabet cards at about three when he begins to want to help mother, and crayons and scissors when he can begin to handle them.

Parents, aunts, uncles and cousins should consider what the child is ready for as regards physical growth and mental and social development in selecting toys.

If toys are selected with some relation to the child's growth and needs, they will be toys which stimulate self-reliance.

Most children, it is believed, can fare better with fewer but carefully selected toys. And when buying a toy, the parents should consider its probable "life."

Typical of the historical attractions which Florida-bound visitors say is Petersburg National Military Park. Tourists are stopping there in goodly number, according to George F. Emery, superintendent. Last winter 46,000 persons visited there in December, January and February, he noted.

Jamestown and Yorktown remain open during the cold months. Moore House at Yorktown usually closes in November and does not open until Easter. Last January more than 34,000 persons visited the Colonial National Historical Park, Edward A. Hummel, superintendent, said.

A leading event at Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania National Military Park this winter will be commemoration of the 90th anniversary of the Battle of Fredericksburg, December 13. A special exhibit will be on display at the museum.

Monticello at Charlottesville will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily this winter.

Hanging of Holly Dates to Druids

Count the pagan Druids for hanging one of the nice Christmas customs—decorating with holly. The traditional holly for the holidays is widely believed to have its origin in the Druid practice of bringing holly sprigs indoors. The Druids' woodland spirits lived in holly.

Higher, holly gave the spirits a warm place in winter. Holly, the hush green holly and the contrast of its red berries symbolized beauty that could be reversed by man when the sacred oak were shown of its foliage. The early Christian church had frowned on such pagan customs and tried to stamp them out. For the time, however, it was felt that some of the customs could be adapted to the new Christian conception.

Some beautiful legends associate the holly with Christ. In fact, it is often called the Christ thorn. One legend depicts the leaf spines as the crown of thorns; the red berries as the sins of the world and the blood of Christ. Another credits holly with first springing up from the footstep of Christ. The plant is said to remain green all winter as a reward for once hiding Christ from his pursuers.

The impact of the holly on the Christmas celebration is evidenced in the traditional holiday colors, green and red. The Druids weren't the only people of old who thought the holly was something special. Pliny, the great Roman historian, insisted holly blossoms chased water to fountains. Also, that holly thrown at any wild beast would make it lie down tamely next to the fire.

These legends, forgotten by many people, are said to be the reason why we decorate with holly.

FIRST DEER RELEASED ON NEW BREEDING AREA

Deer restocking has begun on the newly established deer breeding area of the George Washington National Forest, announced Ned Thornton, assistant chief of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries' game division. Restocking is part of the Cooperative Wildlife Management Program carried on by the Game Commission and the U. S. Forest Service on the national forest.

Four deer from the Cumberland Game Farm have been released in the area by Game Manager Hal Myers Jr., of Forks of Buffalo. Additional deer will be live trapped on the Big Levels Refuge in Augusta County and transplanted to the area.

Weekly Sports Events

Sports at Fort Story were on the light side this week because of maneuvers and other activities. No results are available for the Post and company bowling teams. Basketball came into prominence with the opening of the 5th Naval District League in which the Post team is participating.

The Storytellers triumphed over the Fleet Marine Force Atlantic and the U. S. Air Force Squadron 5, by 51-40, by a furious attack by Moran and Harrie who scored 15 and 13 points. Myerson of the opposition was high man for the evening with 19 points.

Squadron 5 gave Fort Story a closed game, going to defeat 54-53. Chief offensive threats were Sheats with 15 points and Hogan, center, 13. Riddanour netted 13 in a losing cause.

There were a number of postponements in the intramural games, but three contests found their way into the record books. The league leading Navy quintet scored past the 160th T. A. T. 51-31. The trainees from C. Co. were outmanned by a strong contingent from the 870th—they dropped a 51-31 decision. In the final game the 319th wallopped Det-1, 111 in a runaway, 54-24.

Santa Claus, Ind., Focus of Many At Yule Season

There is a fascinating story about a community which is endeared in the hearts of children all over the world. This small village receives thousands of letters each year at Christmas time addressed to old Nick because the name of this Indiana town is Santa Claus.

Located in the southwestern part of Indiana, the town derived its colorful name in the year 1858 after the townspeople learned that they could not secure a post office under its original name of Santa Pe. There was a Santa Pe with a post office already listed in the state.

The people in this little community tried to select a name for their town, and since Christmas was very near at the time, someone suggested that the town be named Santa Claus. It was adopted and approved by the government, which then granted them a post office.

Since that time, for nearly a century, mail which has gone out of that post office has been postmarked "Santa Claus, Ind." Overlooking the town is a large monument of Santa Claus himself. The post office, which is a small picturesque gingerbread type of building, is a sight to thrill the heart of any youngster. In the course of time, a toy factory, an enchanted forest, and a candy castle were established and developed in Santa Claus, which made the town a mecca for children from all over the world.

The famous postmark is available at the Santa Claus, Indiana, post office only. This fact caused Robert Ripley to feature it in one of his Believe It or Not cartoons. Since that time, the community has been given worldwide publicity in thousands of newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals. Many children believe today that it is the actual home of Santa Claus. Each year, millions of letters carrying this postmark pass through the small Santa Claus post office to all parts of the world. The thrill of receiving mail with this postmark "Santa Claus" has resulted in an even greater demand for this postmark service throughout the years.

Use of Area's Underwater Fish Overlooked meeting ground for the truly fresh water fish and the salt water varieties.

Fresh water crabs commonly found there are crabs, bay, blue crabs, yellow perch, and bluegills. The salt water fish which use this fresh water for spawning and nursery even include chub, striped bass (rock), river herring, white perch and clupeoid. It may appear to be a nursery area for crabs.

The average income from fishes taken in this region, and for fishes taken elsewhere but dependent on tidal fresh water for their reproduction has been estimated by Mr. Mendenhall from 1900 to 1901. $115,500 was paid for fresh water fish. The value of the salt water fishes dependent on tidal fresh water was $9,300, 353 annually. These statistics comprise about 35 per cent of the worth of all the food fishes taken by Virginia fishermen during a season.

The staff of the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory believe conditions prevailing on the estuary and nursery grounds of Chesapeake Bay are in a good state of health. Intensive research has been done by Mr. Mendenhall over several years to determine where the spawning and nursery areas are located for that old striped bass and to learn what physical conditions are affecting the survival of eggs and young fish.

Exhibits of marine life present in the Chesapeake Bay are on display in the Prince William County Museum. This room is open daily, including weekends and holidays.

Animals were the chief subjects of paintings in prehistoric caves.

Rules Covering Bonus Payments Modified by WSB

Chairman of the Fourth National Wage Stabilization Board, George H. Brown, announced that the growing of bonus payments for 1952 has been modified. The Wage Stabilization Board has suggested the following bonus payments for 1952 without prior Board approval.

Either the 1950 or 1951 bonus year may be used in computing the growth of bonus payments for 1952, which provides that an employer may pay the same average or amount of bonus this year as that paid in the preceding bonus year, subject to the restriction as to the percentage of bonus employees involved and 25 per cent for an individual bonus employee not being exceeded.

If a Board has approved anything above these averages, the same percentage or amount approved may be paid to the same unit in the 1952 bonus year without further Board action.

In October, Section 26 of General Wage Regulation 14 was amended to provide that any em-

Xmas-Open House' Dates Back To Early Anglo-Saxon Times

At Christmastime, the great hall of the Saxon lord was thrown open to friends and neighbors—all mingling cheerfully and exchanging gifts and hearty cheer during a great feast and festivity composed of meats and merriment.

With a tremendous burst of dancing, the Yule Log was dragged into the hall and placed upon the open fire pit. These dramatic Christmas festivities lasted until the last dying embers of the log.

In the year 1066, prior to the Civil War, the slaves, following, without prior Board approval, may pay any of his employees a 1952 Christmas or year-end bonus, either in cash or in kind, not exceeding 500 in value, even though a lesser bonus, or no bonus, was paid in the preceding bonus year. Such bonus payments need not be effect against the amount permitted under any other regulation or restriction.

Mr. Brown stated that this self-administering procedure should assist management to effect bonus payments in accordance with the above provisions without filing a petition with the Wage Stabilization Board.

This unbroken friendship between the Saxon lord and his court, at Christmastime, has come down to us in the form of the hospitable "Open House."

Legally, the animals are classed as "undomesticated," and some counties offer bounties.

Olden Photography To Be Exhibited by Fine Arts Museum

"Southern Exposure," an exhibition of photography in the South between 1900 and 1910, will go on view at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond, November 28 at 8 p. m.

Drawn exclusively from the collection of plates and negatives preserved by three generations of the O'Connell family of photographers, well known in Richmond, the collection contains scenes of the War between the States, also of post-war South—its soldiers, its cities, its merchants, its life and agriculture; its price, poverty, bravery, humor and determination, according to Leslie Cheek Jr., museum director.

Many of the pictures have never been published and the group as a whole will do much to interpret visually the Southern aspect of this interesting period of our nation's history, Mr. Cheek declares.

The evolution of photography, illustrated by examples in the Cook collection, starting with daguerotypes of 1839 and running through all the various phases of development up to the present, will be in one full section of the exhibition.

A special feature of the display will be re-creation of a typical photographer's "parlor" of the 1890's with slanting skylight, gray-painted backdrop, authentic "props," head clamps and even a mammoth camera on casters.

To $118.50 monthly, and the initial allowance for clothing and equipment to $600.

The Coast Guard academy, now marking its 75th academic year, is the only Armed Forces academy where entrance is based solely on competitive examinations. No state quotas or Congressional appointments are assigned.

"Many of the emergency tax increases enacted in 1952 and in 1953 will automatically expire in fiscal 1954," the Committee for Economic Development says in pointing to the need for tax reform planning.

Ford Dealers Get Look at '53 Car

Approximately 100 Ford dealers and salesmen met at the Cavalier Hotel, here, Monday, November 24, with officers of the Ford Division, Ford Motor Company, to map sales plans for 1953 model cars and trucks.

C. R. Eichen, sales manager of the division's southeast region, said, Emerson Plank, vice manager of the Virginia Ford District, said that the district staff made presentations on sales, service, advertising, display and other phases of new model introduction.

The dealers cover all areas including eastern Virginia and western North Carolina. Similar meetings are being held in other Ford Division sales districts over the country.

Chamber

Nominations will then be made from among the new board elected and presented to all members at the newly adopted fall semi-annual membership meeting. This system of electing officers is unchanged from last year though separating it from the board election. The election dinner is tentatively scheduled for December 9, the place to be selected later.

Chamber Manager Leo Hearty in commenting on the new by-laws said, "All changes in our system were the result of suggestions by the members or were copied verbatim from the official Manual on By-Laws of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. The changes were studied by the Board, improved or revised at a Board meeting, and finally voted upon by the membership by ballot after a ten-day period. With a realistic view of the politics normally found in American cities, the U. S. Chamber recommends several systems which will ordinarily prevent stalemate, partisanship or any group influence in Chamber operations. Our board went out of the way to offer the membership a set of by-laws that would circumvent any such possibility and I think they chose the most democratic system in the book."

The new by-laws contain the following article under Limitation of Methods: "The Chamber shall be non-partisan and non-occasional, and shall take no part in it, nor lend its influence or facilities, either directly or indirectly, to the nomination, appointment, or election of any candidate for office in city, county, state or nation, nor shall any meetings of a political nature whatsoever be held within the premises occupied by or under the control of the Chamber."

Other articles define the duties of members, directors and officers, outline committee procedure, elections, nominations, dues, membership and regular organization of committees.

The present board members 32, whose terms expire December 31. One additional representative of the Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce serves as an ex-officio member of the Senior Chamber Board.

Officers to be elected for one year term next month include the president, vice-president and treasurer. The executive director, a paid employee, is appointed by the Board. His present term expires in April.

Nominations must be in no later than 9 a. m., December 1.

JOY FUND

Mistletoe Said to Bring Good Luck

Very few people don't know what a sprig of mistletoe means at Christmas time — especially when there's a pretty girl standing beneath it! But few people realize that this very pleasant custom has its root in age-old superstitions.

The lore of primitive days contains many references to mistletoe.

According to an ancient Norse legend, the sun god was slain by an arrow fashioned from the mistletoe plant. He was resurrected by his mother's tears, which, falling upon the plant, were crystallized into jewelry. Because of this legend, mistletoe should grow neither in heaven nor earth, but suspended between. That is the reason, says the legend, that mistletoe is found growing on trees.

Mistletoe was of special significance to the Druids, ancient pagan priests of England, who cut it off trees with a golden knife used only for that purpose. They believed it possessed wonderful powers of healing and acted as a protection from witchcraft. During the December religious rites, it was believed upon individuals as a special mark of honor.

The first American plant to be used in this way was the one that grew in the garden of George Washington.

LET US GIVE THANKS

Come and give thanks unto the Lord; fulsome thanks;
 Give thanks in reverent humbleness of spirit unto the Lord
 Out of each solitary heart and out of each family at its hearthside.
 Give thanks unto God, each neighborhood . . . and state and nation.
 For the Lord our God hath blessed us all exceedingly;
 Overlooking our transgressions, He has showered us and encompassed us with His mercy.
 We have known relative peace in a world of hatred and strife,
 And the ugly forces of evil have been stalled in their march of domination.
 We have not wanted for material blessings
 And the glory-bathed face of the Father hath ever shown through the clouds of spiritual despair.
 Out of the exceeding fullness of His grace He hath surely blessed us
 Nor withheld His hand from the afflicted, the poor and the needy
 Let us give thanks.
 And giving thanks unto the merciful Lord
 Let us resolve to be more worthy, in our single and collective hearts.
 Let us pray the Lord God to give us that perception of His infinite mercy
 That we may lavish it upon our brethren, both at home and in the far reaches of the earth.
 In giving thanks let us pray for strength to do the whole will of our Creator,
 Who hath poured out His goodness upon us without stint or restraint.
 Remembering the manifold blessings measured to us from our beginning,
 May we give our most sincere thanks unto God by striving to more nearly image the goodness of God;
 And in so doing express our thanks in the fashion which pleaseth Him.
 Let us give thanks.

The fact that this powerful bloc has only five votes in the Assembly seems on the face of it inexplicable when one considers that Latin America alone has 10. But the strategy might be of the Communist world revolution without question figured of eventually seem away from the free bloc enough nations to place control of the U. N. in the Kremlin's hands.
 Already Guatemala had gone Red; Bolivia looks like the next victim; and even Chile seems to be contemplating change. Our enemies of South America and Russia's terrifically energetic machinations there are bearing fruit much too rapidly.
 And what about the near east and the far east? Certain of these nations seem trembling in the balance, and our bombing doesn't tip the scales toward the free cause.
 As soon as the Reds can muster sufficient votes they will of course obtain entry into the U. N. of the satellites and thus gain complete mastery over the Assembly. All this must have been contemplated at the time the U. N. was organized else Russia would surely not have enrolled where she controlled such a minor voting power.
 Already the wind seems shifting toward the east. We quote from October 19 issue of the New York Times: "But it is anticipated that at this season, for the first time in the history of the United Nations, the United States will find itself on the losing side of a number of important issues."

"Willy" Presented by Girls

Tuesday, November 25, a play, "Willy," was presented in assembly by the girls' fifth period gym class. It was written by Jane Runk, a junior, and was under the direction of Judy Lovell. It was in three acts, theme based on good sportsmanship. The characters were: Willy,

New Donations Swell Fund for Beautification

The Virginia Beach Hotel Association and the Chamber of Commerce have each contributed $300 to the Planning Committee of the North Atlantic Avenue Beautification project, to cover the cost of planting an entire block for each organization.

The Virginia Beach Garden Club and the Rotary Club previously donated $200 and the Council of Garden Clubs is encouraged at the enthusiastic response they have received. The hotel association expressed a hope they would be able to send their second check for this amount, thereby assuming the cost of planting two complete blocks.

The Jaycees will contribute all proceeds from their Street Paper Drive being conducted Sunday, November 30. A telephone call to any member of this organization will assure papers being collected. Magazines will be collected also, and should be tied in separate bundles from the papers.

Miss Lucy Thompson, landscape designer, and E. Walker Turner, supervising engineer, of the State Highway Department recently met with representatives from the Council of Garden Clubs, and discussed planting in a seaside area, making some substitutions and approving certain materials to be used for this project.

George Dean, state forester, met with this committee recently, and expressed his desire to see as much live oak used as is possible, since this tree is truly unique, being found only on the coast. Mr. Dean also said he hoped a great many Loblolly pines would be used as they grow much better here than in other places and he would like to encourage the growth and planting of native materials.

Where was Joe when the Turkey was carved?

ON THANKSGIVING, when traditionally the "head of the house" carves succulent slices of the all-American bird... somebody else, maybe Mama or Grandpa, does the honors for Joe. Joe's job, you see, must be done... holiday or not, night or day, fair weather or foul. He may be a turbine operator, a control panel man, a load dispatcher, a trouble-shooter... any one of the many VEPCOVIANs who keep the serve in your electric service, around the clock, around the calendar.

By the time your turkey is just a shadow of its former self, Joe will be just sitting down to his... warmed over, cold-sliced, or hash. But because he's a nice guy, perhaps a friend or neighbor of yours... he says:

"Happy Thanksgiving!"

Growing Camellias Month by Month

January—Plant new bushes or transplant. Plant slightly higher than before being moved. Do not loosen or remove burlap. In hole slightly larger than ball, add camellia fertilizer, leaves and peat moss. Cotton seed meal is an excellent fertilizer. Aluminum sulphate should be used when moved to make soil more acidic. Water thoroughly then pack dirt. Water thereafter once every week. Apply a handful of special fertilizer for each foot of growth. Do not use oil sprays this month.

February—Keep plants well watered especially when freeze is predicted.

March—Fertilize again, one of two handfuls for each small plant. April—Last transplanting should be done. Fall is best time for transplanting because plant may then grow strong roots.

May—Spray with Bordeaux to prevent powdery mildew. Spray on branches and both sides of leaves. Add soap powder to spray to insure sticking.

June—Follow Bordeaux treatment in three weeks with Volck or other oil spray. Some scales may take several sprayings. Fertilize again repeating March dose. Keep well mulched all through the summer.

July—Do not use oil emulsion spray. Water plants thoroughly once a week. Red spider mites, turning foliage brown. Apply sulphur dust or wash plants in lukewarm water. Dust while dew is on plant. Dose may be repeated after several weeks. If plant or branch starts shriveling cut below disease and cover stump with Bordeaux paste.

August—Keep plants moist and well mulched. Do not use sprays. Beds are developing.

September—Water plants thoroughly.

October—Transplant small cuttings.

In the Feminine Whirl

STRAIGHT From the SHOULDER
..... Fashion, That Is!

By ALICE BREWSTER WHITE
Fashion-Weekend Editor
(Women's World 5-9:30 A.M. Monday through Sunday, and "Feminine Whirl" Tuesday and Thursday nights 8-9 P.M. on WVAH-TV. Write: Alice Brewster White, c/o Sun-News, 5108 Atlantic Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia 23502.)

The busy whirl of fur on the coast, this holiday season, is quite correct.

Yes, the smallest bits of the most precious furs often make the best fashion accessories. The furry trunk comes when there is such a small bit of fur evident sometimes, and fashion designers have seemed to pay pretty much attention to those "good little pieces" of fur as a trim this season.

Many evening gowns use the best of furs. Fox, mink, seal, brown mink banded around the low neckline on a champagne evening gown of chiffon could be quite elegant. Gold and silver lame gowns, patterned in recent fashion, with white fur trimmed and very elegant.

Fur-trimmed suits are coming back. Worn since the days fur coats thrived, Lady Godiva's fashion books for inspiration have these fur-trimmed suits been so popular. However, the colors of fur have all been over of small and sometimes you do not see the fur (fill the jacket, the open and you behold the fur trim).

This mode of fur, with muffs to match, are chic. A fur-trimmed suit makes a wonderful contrast for the untrimmed cloth coat. Blue — but very found — blue will be put under many a Christmas tree this year. They are smart with untrimmed suits or to carry with evening cloaks on a cold and windy night.

Other for necks to delight feminine fancies are vesties, boleros, party bags and cravats. Several little cravats, with a small mink, make a unique look-in for hairdos for formal evenings — or to wear in lieu of a hat to the holiday dinner party. Yes, indeed, the little fur touch is so correct!

What will you do for your holiday formal? Well, if you have no evening wrap, you're set. If not, bring out your money in your new fur and settle for the simplest possible wrap. After all, your wrap is simply a matter of drapery and style and you can use a little fur for fabric jacket, or a velvet cape, a stole, or a velvet jacket. Perhaps you can make the cape or stole yourself, if you're at all handy with a needle.

If your dress is the elegant type, your accessories should be as simple as possible, not to detract from the dress itself. If it is plain and simple, then dress it up with a sparkly bag and exciting new gloves. Red and of-ferented. Bags will be small, but by being worn with velvet, satin, gold and silver lace.

People, Places, Stuff . . . and Things

Your Albee attended one of her conferences at the United Nations building last week in New York and later dined in the delegates' dining room high up in the building and overlooking the East River. On the way going out while Eleanor Roosevelt was coming in, they met and had a short but sparkling chat.

Eleanor Roosevelt has clipped off 30 years! Her buoyant spirit, posture, enthusiasm on meeting people, her new very short clipped poodle haircut — with her fine, soft silver grey hair — gives her such a femininely soft appearance. Since her accident and teeth — straightening job her expression is different and the smile with her vitality and keen perception. She wore a silver light blue frock, no hat or gloves she had dashed up for a bite of lunch, between a station — and a beautiful, pinky-berth on her stroller. She has hopes this session of the General Assembly will bring a closer thinking of peace. She is more remarkable now than before, we think, and everyone from elevator starter to executives seemed to admire her in the UN building.

Then Curtis and his bride, Jan Leigh, sat next to us at Shirley Booth's starring play, "The Time of the Cuckoo." Two happy kids in New Yorktown for a holiday from their movie-making. They both showed gum like during the play, and applauded vociferously for the elegant girl chirley does behind the footlights. After the matinee, Tony and Janet autographed programs in the Empire lobby till the theater lights were put out. So far, those two kids haven't gone Hollywood. Tony is from the lower Middle and says he has to pinch himself every so often to know he is really "from Hollywood."

Anthony Eden is spooed handsome up close. He wears a white carnation in his lapel every day. The dandy!

We interviewed Mrs. Mary Tension Woods, chairman of the Committee on the Status of Women. Mrs. Edith Sampson, ex-lawyer from Chicago who is an alternate delegate for the United States delegation; also beautiful Claudia Cruz of the Philippines, who sends a daily news commentary to the Philippines as to the progress of the United Nations, in the UN radio studio.

Mrs. J. B. Tullie, here at the Beach, is an African violet grower and enthusiast. She has over 600 plants and there are 125 varieties in them. She plants small ones in the cupcake tins so she can water them easily. She speaks of her African violets so tenderly and lovingly that you know it's her big hobby.

Don't forget to get a copy of the December "Flower Grower" and see the glory and photos of the Hill sisters' "Sunbreeze Farm on the Lynnhaven river. It's far better publicly for Princess Anne County than the last magazine article talking about the county and its cupcake tins so she can water them easily. She speaks of her African violets so tenderly and lovingly that you know it's her big hobby.

MERRY MATRON TRICKS
Lumbering Stiff Knees and Relieving Swollen Ankles
If you sit or stand too long in one position, better do this each hour to prevent the condition from developing. Swing-a-leg. Stand up and place left hand on a table or chair back, bend the right leg back and forth several times. Then place the right hand on the edge of the table or chair back and swing the left leg back and forth. Do this often. While sitting, raise one foot at a time and shake it vigorously. If you are an office worker you can sometimes do this at your desk.
For Writer's or Typist's Cramp, or Hand Sewing Cramps
Do this several times an hour: Raise the right hand above the head, relax at wrist and shake the hand. Then do the same with the left hand. Cute tricks for merry matrons to feel comfortable and smiley.
